France May Recognize Red China

Move To Come Despite Strong U.S. Opposition

PARIS (AP) — Despite strenuous opposition from the United States, France has decided to extend diplomatic recognition to Red China. The only question remaining is when President Charles de Gaulle will make the move.

This was reported Friday from highly reliable sources both in Paris and Washington, although official confirmation was lacking.

U.S. UNENTHUSED

The word to Washington came by word of mouth through normal diplomatic channels two days ago, the sources said. There has been no formal reply, but Secretary of State Dean Rusk and his top aides made it clear previously that the United States takes a dim view of the decision. The issue had been gone over in talks between Rusk and Herve Alphand, the French ambassador to the United States earlier in the month.

Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant White House press secretary, said there has been no official notification. But this could refer to a written notification, and not oral notice.

At the United Nations diplomats agreed that the action could have an important bearing on Peking's perennial bid for membership, particularly if France's former African colonies follow suit.

Last fall, France and 10 of the former colonies now independent members of the United Nations voted against admitting Communist China and forcing out the Chinese Nationalists.

The vote was 41 in favor, 57 against and 12 abstentions. A switch by France and eight other

Viet Cong Kills Five Americans

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Five U.S. helicopter crewmen perished and three were wounded in supporting a massive Vietnamese attack Friday on Communist bases in the Mekong River delta. Hard fighting raged into the night.

Urgent appeals for blood donations were broadcast by the U.S. armed forces radio station as casualties poured into Saigon airport from the opening engagements of a campaign expected to last for several days.

Communist ground fire killed the first American 10 miles west of Can Tho, a river town 80 miles southwest of Saigon. He was a U.S. Army private first class, door gunner on an H21 troop-carrying helicopter. The helicopter was undamaged.

Down river, a rocket-firing UH1A escort helicopter disintegrated in a fiery explosion as it led an aerial strike against guerrilla foxholes. All four U.S. crewmen were killed.

Bearing thousands of pounds of fuel and ammunition, the turbine-powered helicopter appeared to have been hit by a Communist shell or heavy machine gun slug.

It was one of the worst days of the war in U.S. helicopter operations. Many were badly damaged and had to be temporarily grounded.

The toll of American combat deaths since the United States stepped up its military support of South Viet Nam two years ago rose to 99. U.S. service deaths from all causes now total 173.

Officials withheld identification of the latest casualties.

Searchers Find Airman's Body

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP) — The body of T. Sgt. Melvin Wooten, the fifth crew member of the B52 jet bomber that crashed near this western Maryland town Monday was found near Salisbury, Pa., late Friday.

Two others were found dead and two escaped injury.

Col. Neill T. Williams, Strategic Air Command spokesman, said Wooten's body was found near the banks of the Castleman River. Williams said there was blood in the area and Wooten apparently had been injured.

He said Wooten had wandered about 100 yards from where his parachute landed according to tracks in the snow, and his survival kit was intact.

"THERE IS my handle coming out the spout! Tip me over and pour me out!" But, little kitty, have no fear. That's phony fur to scare you, dear. The fur was put in — all in fun — by Denny Eagland of the Vancouver Sun. (AP Wirephoto)

ZANZIBAR REBELLION

State Department Officer To Stay

WASHINGTON (AP) — "I am staying," a junior foreign service officer cabled the State Department from the troubled island of Zanzibar Friday.

With that decision, 33-year-old Donald K. Petterson became the highest ranking U.S. diplomat — in fact the only American diplomat — remaining in the small new nation off Africa's east coast.

U.S. Consul Frederick P. Picard III and Petterson were arrested at gunpoint Thursday night by the president of Zanzibar's new left-wing revolutionary regime.

TAKES OVER

The State Department reported that Picard had been expelled by the Zanzibar regime on the ground that he had interfered with the country's internal affairs and that he had flown early Friday to Daressalaam, the capital of Tanganyika, aboard a special plane sent in by the Tanganyikans.

Picard, as the senior U.S. officer, had been charged d'fares at the U.S. embassy in Zanzibar, now Petterson, a San Luis Obispo, Calif., native assigned to Zanzibar last April, has taken over the role. All other American officials on the island were evacuated earlier this week following Sunday's revolution.

Press officer Richard I. Phillips said Picard and Petterson had been released from house arrest unharmed and in good condition. He said Petterson reported he is free to move around the island, and under the circumstances it is his decision to stay on. Washington is not now telling him to leave.

Also released and expelled Friday, Phillips said, were four American newsmen who had been confined to a Zanzibar hotel after an argument Thursday night with the president, Abeid Karume. The Zanzibar regime protested their stories about rebel activities during the coup.

The four newsmen are Robert Conley, New York Times, William Smith of Time, John Nugent of Newsweek and Peter Rand, a special correspondent for the New York Herald Tribune.

Phillips said the U.S. government is still studying whether it should recognize the new government.

Senate Body Gives Boost To Tax Bill

Takes Provision For Capital Gains Out Of Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee gave the $11-billion, tax-cut measure a big shove Friday and raised administration hopes for its passage within a month.

The boost for the administration came when the committee voted 12-5 to eliminate from the House-passed bill a provision which would have sliced the capital gains tax rate on assets held two years or more.

REVENUES REDUCED

This would have reduced revenues an estimated $260 million a year and was the one major provision which Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon had asked the committee to remove from the House measure.

After the action, Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., told newsmen the consensus in the committee now is that it can finish voting on the bill next week, perhaps by Wednesday.

Byrd said the committee staff would like to have a week to prepare its report but he wants to see that shortened.

It all added up to a possibility that debate could begin the week of Jan. 26 and enable Democratic leaders to meet a goal of Senate passage before the Lincoln's Birthday recess starts Feb. 11.

After Senate passage it will be necessary to work out a compromise between its version and that of the House.

Byrd said the proposed cuts in personal rates totalling $8.8 billion will be taken up as the final item of committee business.

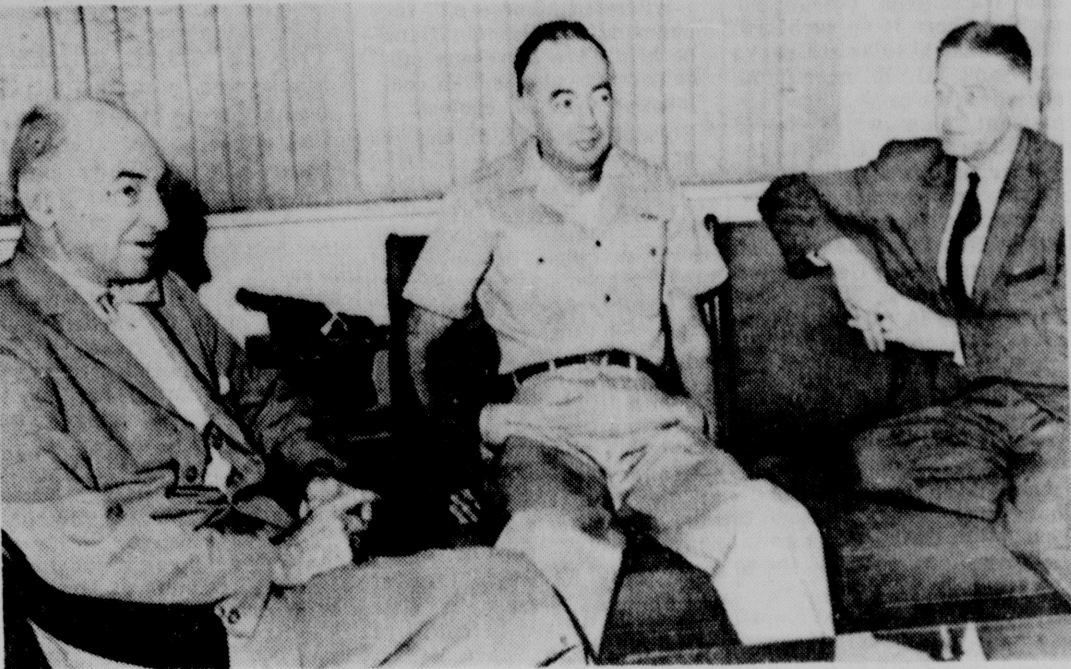

On Monday and Tuesday, it will consider some amendments offered by individual members, the most significant being one by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn. This would permit parents to subtract from their tax bills part of the expenses of sending children to college.

Sen. Smathers Gets Good Gain

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Miami Herald said Friday that Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla., turned a $9,000 investment into a $75,488 asset in a Florida land deal and Robert G. Baker shared his good fortune.

Baker, who is under Senate investigation for alleged influence peddling while he was Senate majority secretary, put $1,500 into the deal and is coming out with $12,580, the Herald said. And Scott L. Peek, who resigned last August as Smathers' aide, had the same percentage, the paper added.

Astronaut Is Senate Candidate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — America's most acclaimed astronaut, Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., tossed away Friday a chance to become a millionaire, or possibly the first man on the moon, to bid for a seat in the U.S. Senate.

The 42-year-old triple orbiter of the earth had his famous smile and quick wit working for him as he told a crowded news conference he would oppose 74-year-old incumbent Sen. Stephen M. Young of Cleveland for the Democratic nomination in Ohio's May 5 primary.

In his words, the choice between space and politics "has not been easy—for me or my family, but it has been necessary because my status in the space program has required it."

GETTING OLDER

He explained that "it could very well be just wishful thinking on my part to train for another six or seven years towards flights for which I might be too old."

And he said he had passed up "numerous business opportunities some of which would have made me a millionaire if I had been interested in only money."

"I believe President Johnson has presented a program for our nation which a majority of Americans will support," he said. "In the Senate I would hope to be able to help him reach the objectives of that program."

Why did he become a candidate for the Senate? "I have chosen this course because I feel that it provides the best opportunity to make use of the experience I have gained in 22 years of government service."

He went little further into his personal political philosophy. That will have to wait, he said, until his retirement from the Marine Corps is acted upon officially.

His announcement — without political backing, as yet, of the regular Democratic party organization in Ohio — caught a bit of criticism right off. Fellow Democrat Charles A. Vanik, representative from Ohio, said in Washington he was endorsing Sen. Young.

High In 60's To Warm Area

Another clear and sunny day is forecast for the Twin Cities today with the agreeable weather—part of a mid-South warming trend—to continue in the area through Sunday.

No below freezing temperatures are expected for today with indicated lows to be between 40 and 44. The high mercury reading today will be from 62 to 64. Friday's top temperature was recorded at 55 degrees and the low was noted at 27 degrees. Sunday's high temperatures are expected to range between 62 and 66.

Winds today will be southerly at about 8 to 18 m.p.h.

Tailgate Storms Sweep Across Northern U.S.

By United Press International
One storm tailgated another Friday across the northern United States.

Up to 5 inches of snow hit the Utah-Idaho intermountain plateau and heavier snows piled up in the high Rockies and Cascades. Gusty winds and rain swept the Pacific Northwest.

To the east, a front-running storm dumped snow on northern Minnesota and upper Michigan. Up to 3 inches of snow was forecast by morning from Minnesota eastward across Michigan.

Winds of 65 miles per hour whipped up snow at Williston, N. D., cutting visibility to less than a quarter of a mile.

The Denver Weather Bureau, in a special bulletin, warned that winds of 25 to 35 m.p.h. accompanying the western storm would blow and drift snow and trigger hazardous driving conditions.

In the South, a record-setting one-foot snowfall that crumpled roofs and airplane hangers in north Texas Thursday gave motorists hazardous driving conditions.

Citrus growers in the semi-tropical Rio Grande Valley surveyed damage from a hard freeze in which temperatures plunged into the middle 20s early Friday.

Before the rains let up, 2 1/2 inches fell at Tallahassee, Fla., and 2 inches at Dawson, Ga.

LARGE CROWD

More than 1,200 people ate barbecued pork and fried fish at long tables, then listened to Goldwater's off-the-cuff remarks.

Goldwater said he knows many people in this tobacco auction center are concerned about the government report that blamed smoking for lung cancer and other ailments.

But he said Americans will always have their problems and find a way to handle them. That brought him to his only mention of the problem of discrimination. Goldwater said it is a problem not only in the South, but all over the nation.

Goldwater said he is tired of hearing people say that the Constitution is outmoded and

76 SLEEPLESS DAYS

Man, 61, Survives Voyage To Hawaii

KAWAIAHAE, Hawaii (UPI) — Felix Noble, 61, said Friday he finally got his first full night's sleep in 76 days but that he was still "weak and wobbly."

"I'm just going to recuperate here and get myself back together," Noble said he was originally from Lorain, Ohio, where a brother, Joseph Nowakowski, and a sister, Mrs. Joe Guzik, still reside.

"Just tell them hello for me and that I'm all right," he said. "I think I'll be feeling better in another week or two."

But Noble said he had about decided not to make Hawaii his home. The part of the big island of Hawaii where he arrived has a treeless, arid coastline which "doesn't live up to the tropical reputation you associate with the islands."

"However, I still have some money, and when I get to feeling better I hope to get out and look around more and maybe I can see some of the things I thought I would find here."

Formal Acts On Relations Break Taken

PANAMA (AP) — U.S. Embassy families were evacuated Friday night into safe haven in the Canal Zone after Panama asked the United States to withdraw its diplomatic personnel.

Panama at the same time ordered its diplomats home from Washington. The moves gave formal effect to the break in diplomatic relations which Panama announced last week after bloody rioting followed a high school flag-raising incident.

The U.S. Embassy was left in the hands of the senior consular official, Henry Taylor, who became the American consul general.

COSTA RICA

Panama asked Costa Rica to handle its interests in the United States.

Taylor and approximately six other persons will man the embassy and handle consular-level affairs, but the Costa Rican government will take over U.S. representation in Panama on the diplomatic level.

President Roberto Chiari has said diplomatic relations would not be resumed until the United States promises to renegotiate the canal treaty.

Evacuation of embassy families was begun Friday afternoon in anticipation of possible trouble from a student demonstration. At that point evacuation was voluntary.

Later in the evening, after the Panamanian government re-

RFK Talks On Peace In Borneo

TOKYO (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy met for 90 minutes Friday with Indonesian President Sukarno and asked for a cease-fire in the guerrilla war in North Borneo, informed sources reported. They were meeting again today.

Kennedy, here on a troubleshooting mission for President Johnson, also told Sukarno that the United States hopes Indonesia, Malaysia and the Philippines will settle their differences at the conference table without the aid of outsiders.

Informed sources said Kennedy came here to express American concern that the "confrontation" of Indonesia and Malaysia could grow into a major conflict within the next two months that might involve the United States and other nations.

The dispute centers around the recent formation of the new state of Malaysia from Malaya, Singapore and British North Borneo, Indonesia, which holds part of the island of Borneo, views the new nation as an extension of British colonialism. The Philippines claim North Borneo.

Sukarno has vowed to crush Malaysia, and for months there have been charges that he has sent guerrilla fighters across the border into Malaysia and the sultanate of Sarawak, which is expected to join Malaysia later.

Britain is committed to the defense of Malaysia and has sent in troops. Britain also is tied by treaty to New Zealand and Australia which could become involved — and thus involve the United States under mutual defense treaties.

Can a still-born baby born in 1963 be counted as a dependent when filing the 1963 federal income taxes?

The local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service says if the baby was born dead, it cannot be claimed. However, if a baby lived only momentarily, then it could be claimed for the entire year.

What is the lowest temperature experienced here this year and what was the date? How does it compare with last year?

The lowest temperature so far was nine degrees on Dec. 24. This was two degrees warmer than the lowest of last winter which was seven degrees on Jan. 24.

Who are Louisiana's Congressmen and what are their addresses?

First we will take the senators — and you didn't say whether you wanted the home addresses or not so we presume you want Washington addresses. The senior Senator is Allen J. Ellender, Houma, and the junior Senator is Russell B. Long, Baton Rouge. Write to them at Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C.

Louisiana's members of the House of Representatives are: Otto E. Passman, 5th District, Monroe; Joe D. Waggoner Jr., 4th District, Plain Dealing; Ellis W. Long, 8th District, Alexandria; P. Edward Hebert, 1st District, New Orleans; Hale Boggs, 2nd District, New Orleans; Edwin E. Willis, 3rd District, St. Martinville; James H. Morrison, 6th District, Hammond; T. A. Thompson, 7th District, Ville Platte.

You can write to any one of them by addressing it to him at the House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

If this is the 20th Century, why do we write 1964 instead of 2064?

The time during the first century was 1 to 100, the second century was the year 101 to 200, etc. Carry that forward each 100 years and you will find that, though this century is the 20th, it will actually be the 20th century.

Please reveal the number of any public law and when enacted that will turn over U. S. military forces to

United Nations command in 1970.

Our Washington bureau advises that there is no such law. At disarmament talks at Geneva Switzerland, U. S. negotiators proposed a three-stage disarmament plan which would eventually create a U. N. police force larger than the military force of any member nation. The plan has found no favor with the Russians and has not been discussed at Geneva for 18 months. The U. S. first offered the plan in 1951.

In 1956 Communist Chinese troops went into Tibet and by 1959 had forced the Buddhist Dalai Lama to flee the nation. Appeals have been made to the United Nations over this invasion. What is the status of the appeals and where is the Lama now?

Malaya and Thailand attempted to get the Tibet takeover on the U. N. agenda in 1959 and 1961 but failed. The U. S. State Department told our Washington bureau that no current efforts are underway to put the matter before the U. N.

The Dalai Lama is still living in exile in India.

On what day of the week did July 21, 1888, fall?

According to the perpetual calendar, July 21, 1888 was on Saturday.

Recently I voted absentee in Morehouse Parish for the Second Democratic primary. I was given specific instructions to mark my ballot with a pencil. Why is ink not allowed since it is generally employed for official transactions?

The Secretary of State's office in Baton Rouge was unable to give any information other than to cite the specific law which requires ballots to be marked with a pencil. The law does designate that the ballot will be marked with a pencil "containing black lead." It is not an antiquated law, either, being enacted in 1962.

How and when did LSU get the nickname "The Ole War Skule"?

The public relations office at the university says that the nickname comes from the long-standing military tradition of the institution. LSU originally was almost a military academy. The male students (and there were no women until 1902) were required to be members of the cadet corps and the training for war was an important and compulsory part of the education process. So, the nickname was derived from the military tradition of the school.

As for a date, there was no specific date known.

Does the Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce plan to sponsor a contestant in the 1964 Miss Louisiana contest? Does the West Monroe Junior Chamber have any plans for a contestant?

The answer for both local Jaycee chapters at the present time is no. Spokesmen for both chapters indicated that there are no plans at present for sponsoring a candidate.

Where in Monroe will the pageant for Miss Louisiana be held? Are there any other events planned in conjunction with the contest?

Present plans call for the pageant to be held at Neville High School. When asked if there were any plans at present to hold the pageant outdoors, the answer was no. The only possibility for events to coincide with the beauty pageant at present is for boat races.

Has the West Monroe city hall noticed any appreciable increase in water consumption since many Monroians have been getting water from that city due to the water shortage in Bayou Desiard?

According to charts kept at the pumping station in West Monroe, the answer is that there has been no evidence of increased consumption. In fact, for the past two months, consumption has decreased slightly.

At one time there was mention of putting a medical school at Northeast Louisiana State College in Monroe. What has happened to this idea?

Inquiries revealed that no concrete plans have been formed. A survey was made last year and it was determined that another medical school is needed in the state. And since the two present medical schools are located in south Louisiana, the possibility arose that the new one, if ever realized, could be in north Louisiana. Monroe was mentioned. The plan for our local college has not been abandoned, however.

How does Sander Library at Northeast Louisiana State College rank with the Ouachita Parish Library's main branch and the Louisiana Tech library in floor space and volume?

Sander Library has 57,000 square feet of floor space and approximately 70,000 volumes. The library at Tech has 55,268 square feet of floor space and 97,881 volumes. The Ouachita Parish Public Library has 18,552 square feet of floor space and 40,558 volumes.

Are there any plans for making Northeast Louisiana State College a university?

None that we can locate.

Has the new Ouachita Parish High School library been opened yet? What are its facilities?

The library is open at present but not for reading and general student activities, according to S. T. Howell, principal. Howell said that furniture and shelving, which is to be custom-made, has not arrived yet. He said that the school expects delivery by mid-term. He added that facilities will make it

"the best-equipped high school library in the area." It will include individual study spaces, greatly enlarged audio-visual aids, periodical room, classroom space especially equipped for teaching library use and a separate intercom system for meetings.

Why is it against the law in the city limits of Monroe to burn trash in your own yard for fear of air pollution, when at times within a very few blocks of the city hall, there is a lumber company that literally blankets the city with its smoke and soot? Why is not this company under the same law as we private citizens, and dealt with as we would be and prohibited to pollute the air as they do?

Although complaints are sometimes received about excessive smoke, air pollution is not the reason for the city's fire ordinance, according to officials of the Monroe police department. This ordinance is to prevent spreading of fires, and does not actually prohibit the burning of trash in the city. Section 13-12 of the City of Monroe Code is as follows: "It shall be unlawful for any person to start or set out any trash fire or to burn paper, grass, trash or debris where such fire is not protected by a proper furnace or incinerator, within the fire district of the city."

Will you please tell me why the City of Monroe does not have a traffic light on Jackson street at Morris Drive and Morris Avenue?

According to the traffic division of the Monroe police department, Jackson Street at Morris Drive and Morris Avenue is part of the state maintained highway U.S. 165, and the City of Monroe has no jurisdiction over installation of traffic signals on state or federal maintained highways. The officer continued that a recent traffic survey by the Monroe police department indicated that this intersection does not meet minimum requirements for installation of a traffic signal.

Would you please give me a formula for making grafting wax to graft pecan scions?

Ouachita Parish County Agent J. J. Joyce Jr. provided a formula for preparing grafting wax, but said that it is cheaper and more practical to use one of the commercial preparations.

Here is the formula: Ingredients needed are 10 pounds of rosin, two pounds of beeswax, and one pound of either celite or talc.

Melt the rosin and beeswax together in a large enough vessel so material can be stirred well while it is melting. When the material is well melted and mixed, remove from the fire. Immediately after removing from the fire gradually add the celite or talc, stir constantly, then pour mixture into flat pan and allow to cool. Talc tends to settle out if wax is overheated. When the mixture is cool it can be removed from the pan by inverting and hitting the pan on the edge. It can be broken into small pieces for convenient use in the wax melter. The wax should be applied with a brush when just hot enough to melt.

Agent Joyce said that one of the commercial mixtures can be applied without heating. When applying home-mixed formula, care should be taken not to overheat the wax since this will result in damage to the graft.

Is it lawful for a sheriff or deputy to come and arrest a person without a warrant, when the person really hasn't done anything?

Law enforcement officers, whether sheriffs, deputies, police or state troopers, can make an arrest for a misdemeanor if the violation is committed in their presence. They need only to have seen or heard the violation to have grounds for the apprehension.

If the violation is a felony a more serious crime or one that can result in a prison term, the officer must have adequate reason to believe that the person taken into custody is guilty, or in some way responsible. When this is the case, he made the arrest. But he must tell the person the reason for the arrest, that is, what he is charged with doing. In most cases a

Professor Here Joins Science Lecture Group

A Northeast State College professor has been chosen for the high school visitation program of the Arkansas Academy of Sciences.

Dr. William K. Easley, head of the chemistry department at NLSC, joins some 60 other scientists who are members of the Arkansas Academy in making their services available for speeches, demonstrations, panel discussions or special lectures.

Principal purpose of the visitation program, which is supported by a grant from the National Science Foundation, is to provide scientific information and not to promote any special program or push science at the expense of any other important part of the school program, said W. R. Orton of the University of Arkansas mathematics department, program director.

Northeast State's Prof. Easley has prepared for high school groups a fungicidal study illustrated with color slides. He is also prepared to discuss with college groups quinoxaline studies, research in improvement of analytical procedures, and a view of condensation polymers.

A native of Tennessee, Dr. Easley also holds membership in academies of science in Louisiana and Tennessee. Majoring in chemistry, he earned the bachelor's degree at Carson-Newman College, the master's degree at the University of Richmond and the doctor's degree at Georgetown University.

He was in charge of the organic chemistry program at East Tennessee State College before coming to NLSC in 1959. He has also taught at the University of Arkansas, Richmond, Carson-Newman, Georgetown and Arkansas State Teachers College.

In addition, he has worked as a research chemist for Tennessee Eastman and the Chemstrand Corp.

He was director of the National Science Foundation-sponsored Summer Institute held in 1962.

Dr. Easley has had numerous technical papers and articles published in state and national professional and scientific journals.

Warrant is obtained for this type of arrest, although it is not mandatory.

Officers can take into custody if the situation is of sufficient nature, persons for questioning even though they are later released, or charged as the case may be.

Why are the oak and sweet gum leaves so late in falling this year?

Lonnie B. White, district forester here with the Louisiana Forestry Commission, discussed the matter with other foresters and came up with this explanation of conditions which might be involved:

"In the case of water oak and pin oak, that group lose their leaves later in the year. That is normal.

"Anytime trees have excellent growing conditions, are open grown and fertilized well, they usually hold their leaves later in the fall than close grown trees and others that don't have very good growing conditions.

"Conditions such as early or late frost can have a bearing on that, and whether a tree is exposed to the elements as much as other trees would have some effects. Environmental factors rather than species of tree, in the case of gums and oaks other than pin and water, would probably have more bearing on how long leaves stay on."

Marine Corps Colonel John Glenn has announced that he will be a candidate for the United States Senate. Can he run for the Senate and remain in the Marines? If so, can he hold office while in service?

Military personnel on active duty can announce for office without resigning. But Defense Department requirements demand that they resign or retire before actively campaigning. They must resign in any case before taking office under a constitutional clause prohibiting anyone from receiving money from two branches of the government simultaneously.

PANAMA STRIFE

Red Chief Blasts Charge On Cuba

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, with Fidel Castro at his side, Friday ridiculed U. S. "concoctions" that Cuban agents organized the Panama crisis. He said the Soviet Union supports Panama in the dispute.

Khrushchev called the recent U. S. Central Intelligence Agency report on lagging Soviet economic progress a "forgery" and said, "We can tell the authors of such forgeries you will sooner vanish as though the earth had opened and swallowed you up than see our economic failure."

Khrushchev and the visiting Cuban premier spoke before a gathering of factory workers in Kalinin, 100 miles northwest of Moscow, Soviet Tass news agency reported.

Khrushchev repeated his previous pledges to aid Castro, insisted he had withdrawn rockets from Cuba only after receiving a pledge from the United States there would be no invasion, and said scientists had just reported to him on a "remarkable" new Soviet rocket. He gave no details but it presumably was one of the rockets tested in the Pacific around the beginning of the year.

U. S. officials have charged that at least 10 Castro agents had been captured in Panama and that one of them was a shipper.

"It was not Comrade Castro who organized the events in Panama," Khrushchev said. "These events are the result of the sorry policy of the United States imperialists in Panama."

He said he did not know what part the Communists played in the Panama rioting but "We firmly know that the people of Panama ... are fighting for the freedom of their country. They want to get rid of the oppression by the United States imperialists."

"This is a legitimate desire and we are siding with the people of Panama."

"Thoughtful people in the United States should understand that we live in an age when all the peoples want to possess the products of their labor, want to govern their own countries, want to strengthen the independence of their states. "And the people of Panama are fighting for their sacred rights, want to be the master of their country."

Mr. Editor...

Tell Me, Please

If you have a question you want answered, write or call "Mr. Editor, Tell Me, Please" at the Morning World and News-Star. We'll be glad to get the information and pass it on to you each Saturday in this column.

Can a still-born baby born in 1963 be counted as a dependent when filing the 1963 federal income taxes?

The local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service says if the baby was born dead, it cannot be claimed. However, if a baby lived only momentarily, then it could be claimed for the entire year.

What is the lowest temperature experienced here this year and what was the date? How does it compare with last year?

The lowest temperature so far was nine degrees on Dec. 24. This was two degrees warmer than the lowest of last winter which was seven degrees on Jan. 24.

Who are Louisiana's Congressmen and what are their addresses?

First we will take the senators — and you didn't say whether you wanted the home addresses or not so we presume you want Washington addresses. The senior Senator is Allen J. Ellender, Houma, and the junior Senator is Russell B. Long, Baton Rouge. Write to them at Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C.

Louisiana's members of the House of Representatives are: Otto E. Passman, 5th District, Monroe; Joe D. Waggoner Jr., 4th District, Plain Dealing; Ellis W. Long, 8th District, Alexandria; F. Edward Hebert, 1st District, New Orleans; Hale Boggs, 2nd District, New Orleans; Edwin E. Willis, 3rd District, St. Martinville; James H. Morrison, 6th District, Hammond; T. A. Thompson, 7th District, Ville Platte.

You can write to any one of them by addressing it to him at the House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

If this is the 20th Century, why do we write 1964 instead of 2064?

The time during the first century was 1 to 100, the second century was the year 101 to 200, etc. Carry that forward each 100 years and you will find that, though this century is the 1900's, it will actually be the 20th century.

United Nations command in 1970.

Our Washington bureau advises that there is no such law. At disarmament talks at Geneva Switzerland, U. S. negotiators proposed a three - stage disarmament plan which would eventually create a U. N. police force larger than the military force of any member nation. The plan has found no favor with the Russians and has not been discussed at Geneva for 18 months. The U. S. first offered the plan in 1951.

In 1956 Communist Chinese troops swept into Tibet and by 1959 had forced the Buddhist Dalai Lama to flee the nation. Appeals have been made to the United Nations over this invasion. What is the status of the appeals and where is the Lama now?

Malaya and Thailand attempted to get the Tibet takeover on the U. N. agenda in 1959 and 1961 but failed. The U. S. State Department told our Washington bureau that no current efforts are underway to put the matter before the U. N.

The Dalai Lama is still living in exile in India.

On what day of the week did July 21, 1888, fall?

According to the perpetual calendar, July 21, 1888 was on Saturday.

Recently I voted absentee in Morehouse Parish for the Second Democratic primary. I was given specific instructions to mark my ballot with a pencil. Why is ink not allowed since it is generally employed for official transactions?

The Secretary of State's office in Baton Rouge was unable to give any information other than to cite the specific law which requires ballots to be marked with a pencil. The law does designate that the ballot will be marked with a pencil "containing black lead . . ." It is not an antiquated law, either, being enacted in 1962.

How and when did LSU get the nickname "The Ole War Skule"?

The public relations office at the university says that the nickname comes from the long-standing military tradition of the institution. LSU originally was almost a military academy. The male students (and there were no women until 1902) were required to be members of the cadet corps and the training for war was an important and compulsory part of the education process. So, the nickname was derived from the military tradition of the school.

As for a date, there was no specific date known.

Does the Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce plan to sponsor a contestant in the 1964 Miss Louisiana contest? Does the West Monroe Junior Chamber have any plans for a contestant? The answer for both local Jaycee chapters at the present time is no. Spokesmen for both chapters indicated that there are no plans at present for sponsoring a candidate.

Where in Monroe will the pageant for Miss Louisiana be held? Are there any other events planned in conjunction with the contest?

Present plans call for the pageant to be held at Neville High School. When asked if there were any plans at present to hold the pageant outdoors, the answer was no. The only possibility for events to coincide with the beauty pageant at present is for boat races.

Has the West Monroe city hall noticed any appreciable increase in water consumption since many Monroians have been getting water from that city due to the water shortage in Bayou de l'Est?

According to charts kept at the pumping station in West Monroe, the answer is that there has been no evidence of increased consumption. In fact, for the past two months, consumption has decreased slightly.

At one time there was mention of putting a medical school at Northeast Louisiana State College in Monroe. What has happened to this idea?

Inquiries revealed that no concrete plans have been formed. A survey was made last year and it was determined that another medical school is needed in the state. And since the two present medical schools are located in south Louisiana, the possibility arose that the new one, if ever realized, could be in north Louisiana. Monroe was mentioned. The plan for attempting to secure the facility for our local college has not been abandoned, however.

How does Sander Library at Northeast Louisiana State College rank with the Ouachita Parish Library's main branch and the Louisiana Tech library in floor space and volume?

Sander Library has 57,000 square feet of floor space and approximately 70,000 volumes. The library at Tech has 55,268 square feet of floor space and 97,881 volumes. The Ouachita Parish Public Library has 18,552 square feet of floor space and 40,558 volumes.

Are there any plans for making Northeast Louisiana State College a university?

None that we can locate. Has the new Ouachita Parish High School library been opened yet? What are its facilities?

The library is open at present but not for reading and general student activities, according to S. T. Howell, principal. Howell said that furniture and shelving, which is to be custom-made, has not arrived yet. He said that the school expects delivery by mid-term. He added that facilities will make it

He added that the library will have more than enough books to meet standard requirements.

Why is it against the law in the city limits of Monroe to burn trash in your own yard for fear of air pollution, when at times within a very few blocks of the city hall, there is a lumber company that literally blankets the city with its smoke and soot? Why is not this company under the same law as we private citizens, and dealt with as we would be and prohibited to pollute the air as they do?

Although complaints are sometimes received about excessive smoke, air pollution is not the reason for the city's fire ordinance, according to officials of the Monroe police department. This ordinance is to prevent spreading of fires, and does not actually prohibit the burning of trash in the city. Section 13-12 of the City of Monroe Code is as follows: "It shall be unlawful for any person to start or set out any trash fire or to burn paper, grass, trash or debris where such fire is not protected by a proper furnace or incinerator, within the fire district of the city."

Will you please tell me why the City of Monroe does not have a traffic light on Jackson street at Morris Drive and Morris Avenue?

According to the traffic division of the Monroe police department, Jackson Street at Morris Drive and Morris Avenue is part of the state maintained highway U.S. 165 and the City of Monroe has no jurisdiction over installation of traffic signals on state or federal maintained highways. The officer continued that a recent traffic survey by the Monroe police department indicated that this intersection does not meet minimum requirements for installation of a traffic signal.

Would you please give me a formula for making grafting wax to graft pecan scions?

Ouachita Parish County Agent J. J. Joyce Jr. provided a formula for preparing grafting wax, but said that it is cheaper and more practical to use one of the commercial preparations.

Here is the formula: Ingredients needed are 10 pounds of rosin, two pounds of beeswax, and one pound of either celite or talc.

Melt the rosin and beeswax together in a large enough vessel so material can be stirred well while it is melting. When the material is well melted and mixed, remove from the fire. Immediately after removing from the fire gradually add the celite or talc, stir constantly, then pour mixture into flat pan and allow to cool. Talc tends to settle out if wax is overheated. When the mixture is cool it can be removed from the pan by inverting and hitting the pan on the edge. It can be broken into small pieces for convenient use in the wax melter. The wax should be applied with a brush when just hot enough to melt.

Agent Joyce said that one of the commercial mixtures can be applied without heating. When applying home-mixed formula, care should be taken not to overheat the wax since this will result in damage to the graft.

Is it lawful for a sheriff or deputy to come and arrest a person without a warrant, when the person really hasn't done anything?

Law enforcement officers, whether sheriffs, deputies, police or state troopers, can make an arrest for a misdemeanor if the violation is committed in their presence. They need only to have seen or heard the violation to have grounds for the apprehension.

If the violation is a felony more serious crime or one that can result in a prison term, the officer must have adequate reason to believe that the person taken into custody is guilty, or in some way responsible. When this is the case, he made the arrest. But he must tell the person the reason for the arrest, that is, what he is charged with doing, in most cases a

Professor Here Joins Science Lecture Group

A Northeast State College professor has been chosen for the high school visitation program of the Arkansas Academy of Sciences.

Dr. William K. Easley, head of the chemistry department at NLSC, joins some 60 other scientists who are members of the Arkansas Academy in making their services available for speeches, demonstrations, panel discussions or special lectures.

Principal purpose of the visitation program, which is supported by a grant from the National Science Foundation, is to provide scientific information and not to promote any special program or push science at the expense of any other important part of the school program, said W. R. Orton of the University of Arkansas mathematics department, program director.

Northeast State's Prof. Easley has prepared for high school groups a fundic study illustrated with color slides. He is also prepared to discuss with college groups quinoxaline studies, research in improvement of analytical procedures, and a view of condensation polymers.

A native of Tennessee, Dr. Easley also holds membership in academies of science in Louisiana and Tennessee. Majoring in chemistry, he earned the bachelor's degree at Carson-Newman College, the master's degree at the University of Richmond and the doctor's degree at Georgetown University.

He was in charge of the organic chemistry program at East Tennessee State College before coming to NLSC in 1959. He has also taught at the University of Arkansas, Richmond, Carson-Newman, Georgetown and Arkansas State Teachers College.

In addition, he has worked as a research chemist for Tennessee Eastman and the Chemstrand Corp.

He was director of the National Science Foundation-sponsored Summer Institute held in 1962.

Dr. Easley has had numerous technical papers and articles published in state and national professional and scientific journals.

A warrant is obtained for this type of arrest, although it is not mandatory.

Officers can take into custody if the situation is of sufficient nature, persons for questioning even though they are later released, or charged as the case may be.

Why are the oak and sweet gum leaves so late in falling this year?

Lonnie B. White, district forester here with the Louisiana Forestry Commission, discussed the matter with other foresters and came up with this explanation of conditions which might be involved:

"In the case of water oak and pin oak, that group lose their leaves later in the year. That is normal.

"Anytime trees have excellent growing conditions, are open grown and fertilized well, they usually hold their leaves later in the fall than close grown trees and others that don't have very good growing conditions.

"Conditions such as early or late frost can have a bearing on that, and whether a tree is exposed to the elements as much as other trees would have some effects. Environmental factors rather than species of tree, in the case of gums and oaks other than pin and water, would probably have more bearing on how long leaves stay on."

Marine Corps Colonel John Glenn has announced that he will be a candidate for the United States Senate. Can he run for the Senate and remain in the Marines? If so, can he hold office while in service?

Military personnel on active duty can announce for office without resigning. But Defense Department requirements demand that they resign or retire before actively campaigning. They must resign in any case before taking office under a constitutional clause prohibiting anyone from receiving money from two branches of the government simultaneously.

PANAMA STRIFE

Red Chief Blasts Charge On Cuba

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, with Fidel Castro at his side, Friday ridiculed U. S. "concoctions" that Cuban agents organized the Panama crisis. He said the Soviet Union supports Panama in the dispute.

Khrushchev called the recent U. S. Central Intelligence Agency report on lagging Soviet economic progress a "forgery" and said, "We can tell the authors of such forgeries you will sooner vanish as though the earth had opened and swallowed you up than see our economic failure."

Khrushchev and the visiting Cuban premier spoke before a gathering of factory workers in Kalinin, 100 miles northwest of Moscow, Soviet Tass news agency reported.

Khrushchev repeated his previous pledges to aid Castro, insisted he had withdrawn rockets from Cuba only after receiving a pledge from the United States there would be no invasion, and said scientists had just reported to him on a "remarkable" new Soviet rocket. He gave no details but it presumably was one of the rockets tested in the Pacific around the beginning of the year.

U. S. officials have charged that at least 10 Castro agents had been captured in Panama and that one of them was a shipper.

"It was not Comrade Castro who organized the events in Panama," Khrushchev said. "These events are the result of the sorry policy of the United States imperialists in Panama."

He said he did not know what part the Communists played in the Panama rioting but "We firmly know that the people of Panama . . . are fighting for the freedom of their country. They want to get rid of the oppression by the United States imperialists."

"This is a legitimate desire and we are siding with the people of Panama."

"Thoughtful people in the United States should understand that we live in an age when all the peoples want to possess the products of their labor, want to govern their own

RIGID ECONOMY

McKeithen Tells Of Possible Cuts In Solons' Pay

BATON ROUGE (AP) — John J. McKeithen said Friday he believes in rigid economy and suggested a possible cut in legislative pay, "perhaps we'll get to the governor's pay, too."

After a luncheon with business and civic leaders here, the Democratic nominee for governor faced the press.

McKeithen told the luncheon group he would not tolerate any member of his administration "making any money on the side or making any deals."

"If I hear of anybody doing this," he said, "they will be fired as soon as I hear about it."

McKeithen is a political protégé of the late Gov. Earl K. Long, who used to shout in campaigns if anybody knew of any crookedness or wrongdoing, all they had to do was to come "and tell of Earl about it" and he'd act.

"I would like to see how much money the legislature has spent investigating everything—at $50 a day," the 45-year-old Columbia attorney said in his news conference.

He referred to the many special committee sessions which probed various state functions, with each member paid $50 per diem.

"If we start economizing," McKeithen said, "it might be good to start in the legislature and the governor's office."

Asked if he would consider a flat salary for legislators, McKeithen said it may be a good idea, but he was sure legislative retirement would be examined.

The current Legislative Budget Committee, operating under Gov. Jimmie H. Davis, who is responsible for preparation of the state budget for the 1964 legislature in May, plans to conduct a preliminary session here Monday.

"I'm not sure the budget committee does any good," McKeithen said, "but I don't question its sincerity." When the state budget is prepared, he added, he feels he should "see if any changes should be made."

Plans are being made for him to become acquainted with the Budget Committee work, he said. "I think it will be mandatory for me to look into this to see what we've got left."

McKeithen predicted the 1964 legislature would overwhelmingly approve his administration's program.

A code of ethics—which he described as his No. 1 bill, central listing of employees, full investment of idle funds, state-guaranteed loans for high school graduates wanting to enter college.

McKeithen said the code of ethics "probably will take some (state officials) out of the insurance business."

Asked whether he had any plans for change in the way the state handled its insurance—such as a self-insurance plan—McKeithen said he had given no thought to it.

If the legislature can come up with a good plan to change the insurance system, he commented, he would back it.

McKeithen was asked what he thought of Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater's plan calling for those on welfare to work when they're able.

Mary Evelyn Parker, former state welfare commissioner and a McKeithen aide, suggested Goldwater was referring to a welfare program for the jobless—used in several states but not in Louisiana.

"Anyone on welfare able to work should be allowed to work," McKeithen said. "I have serious doubts about welfare when there is an able-bodied male in a household. I don't know if that coincides with Goldwater's views."

"I do feel like when you put a man on welfare who is able-bodied... you will have a long time getting him off. Of course, there are lots of good men who can't find work. I don't think welfare is the answer to that problem."

Dudley LeBlanc, a former state senator who will return, has proposed raising to $100 monthly the maximum old age welfare payments, and lowering the age to 60.

On this, McKeithen said LeBlanc is the father of Louisiana's old age pension, "and there is no question the senator's heart beats for the old people."

But McKeithen said while he mentioned during his campaign cost of living boosts for welfare recipients, "we'll have to see whether we can find the money."

The new Democratic State Central Committee convenes here next Wednesday, and may decide what to do about the outgoing committee's proposal for two states of presidential electors to be offered to the people next July 25, with one linked to unpledged electors.

McKeithen said he would leave the state Tuesday for about a week's rest out west.

McKeithen hasn't formed his campaign plans for the March 3 general election, when he faces Republican Charlton H. Lyons Sr. of Shreveport and States Rights Thomas S. Williams of Ethel.

McKeithen, in his question-and-answer session with newsmen, was calm, deliberate, humorous, brief and cooperative.

"What kind of governor will you be?" he was asked.

"If I can finish this four years and see in your faces the feeling I have made a good governor," McKeithen said, "I will feel I have obtained something more valuable than all the riches of this earth."

On state spending, McKeithen was asked where he would find the money since his defeated runoff foe, deLesseps Morrison, had mentioned how he proposed to save up to $60 million.

McKeithen replied he would have to wait until Morrison comes back from Mexico and find out, adding, "but we think we can save money."

McKeithen said he would work toward finding the money to put into effect a promised teachers pay raise.

McKeithen said he would seek Morrison for usefulness in industrial development, and said an offer of a state post "was not beyond the realm of possibility," but did not have any post in mind.

Earlier, McKeithen said he would ask former Gov. Robert Kennon for advice on state sovereignty matters and consult Shelby M. Jackson, outgoing state superintendent of education who lost a bid for governor, on education problems.

On other topics, McKeithen: Suggested his college student loan program could take the place of the legislative scholarship program.

Described a proposal for a two-thirds legislative majority for future bond issues as "good government."

Promised a flow of news conferences, if elected governor, to assure "forthright government" and keep the public informed.

Described the old factionalism of Long vs. Anti-Long as fading, with growing emphasis on a candidate's personality and his platform.

Suggested caution in any move, as one legislator from St. Tammany Parish proposed, to take away the old mansion from a Baton Rouge group now promoting it as an arts and science center, because local officials should be consulted first.

Proposed to go unannounced to such state institutions as the state penitentiary, because "I want to look around, I've heard lots of stories, good and bad, but I'm not going there in disguise."

Said he isn't sure the so-called constitutional boards in charge of major state agencies serve any useful purpose.

Voiced hope some workable plan could be drafted to solve the problem of a governor taking office just as a new legislative begins.

"A new governor," he said, "certainly is hit straight in the face."

Surgeon Takes Thyroid Tumor From Astronaut

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A small tumor was removed Friday from the thyroid gland of astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. in surgical procedure at Hermann Hospital.

Paul Haney, public affairs officer at the Manned Spacecraft Center, said the tumor was not malignant.

Shepard, 41, is expected to remain in the hospital until the end of next week. He entered the hospital Thursday night.

The operation was performed by a Houston throat surgeon. It is anticipated that the operation will have no effect on his flying status, Haney said.

School Board Members Here May Run Again

Three Monroe City School Board members have indicated they may seek re-election in the May 16 first Monroe primary, but age still undecided, while one definitely will run and one other doesn't plan to be a candidate.

W. S. Gannaway, 12 years on the board, said he was definitely planning on running while W. E. Whetstone, Fifth District member on the State Board of Education, said "I am definitely not going to run. But if no one else qualifies, I will be more than delighted to serve another four years."

Those in the undecided group include Grayson Guthrie Jr., a Monroe banker who has served on the board for the past six years; board Chairman J. H. Seogin Jr., completing his first four-year term, and Frank Breese, also completing his first term.

Meanwhile, the city Democratic Executive Committee said the first primary will be held May 16 with the runoff slated June 20. City Hall posts will also be up for election, and Mayor W. L. Howard, Finance Commissioner H. W. McSherry and Street Commissioner W. D. H. Rodriguez have already said they will seek re-election. Candidates filing must qualify with the city Democratic Committee.

CONVENTION HERE ENDS

Officers Selected By Baptist Group

Todd C. Hamilton, minister of education at First Baptist Church in Minden, was named president of the Louisiana Baptist Sunday School Convention meeting at First Baptist Church in Monroe Friday afternoon.

Other officers named by the convention include Rev. Leland A. Langridge Jr., pastor of Fair Park Baptist Church, West Monroe, first vice president; Harold T. Gallaspy, education and training associate for New Orleans Baptist Association, second vice president; and Bob Bremberman, education minister for DeQuincy First Baptist Church, secretary.

Emmanuel Baptist Church in Baton Rouge was chosen for the 1965 convention, scheduled January 14-15. Registration for the two-day meeting here exceeded 700 persons.

College Place Baptist Church of Monroe was recognized during the convention for having in its Sunday School more standard units over a longer period of time than any other church in Louisiana.

J. L. Pollard, state Sunday School department secretary, made the announcement when he awarded certificates to the top 25 churches in the state in Sunday School training awards earned during the past year.

Area churches among the top 25 were College Place, 16th; Delhi First Baptist, 18th; Vidalia First Baptist, 21st; and Temple Baptist, Monroe, 23rd. First Baptist Church in Baton Rouge was first.

A total of 752 churches in the state offered special training courses for their volunteer workers during the past year. Raymond D. Jones, associate in the Louisiana Sunday School department, said that the goal is every Sunday School worker in a continuous training program resulting in a trained worker in every position.

Among top ranking associations in Sunday School training during the year were Ouachita Parish Baptist Association, ranking 5th; Jackson Parish Association, ranking 7th; and Bayou Macon Association, ranking 9th.

TOKYO (AP)—A Communist Chinese trade delegation led by Chou Hua-min, assistant minister for foreign trade, left Peking for Moscow, the New China News Agency reported Friday. It gave no details.

Police Arrest Ex-Emperor Of Vegetable Oil

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Anthony DeAngelis, whose international vegetable oil empire crumbled two months ago, was arrested along with another man Friday on a civil complaint charging they defrauded a tank storage firm of nearly $46.5 million.

DeAngelis, president of the bankrupt Allied Crude Vegetable Oil Refining Corp. of Bayonne, was arrested in Newark shortly before he was to appear in federal court for a contempt hearing.

The other defendant, Joseph Lomuscio, was arrested at his home in Englewood Cliffs.

Superior Court Judge Robert Matthews, sitting in Jersey City, set bail for each at $46,499,295.63—the amount allegedly owed to the plaintiff.

The complaint was filed by Joseph M. Nolan, trustee in bankruptcy for Harbor Tank Storage Co. of West New York.

It alleges that DeAngelis and Lomuscio committed "breach of contract and fraud." It said they fraudulently leased storage tanks at Allied's Bayonne tank farms to the West New York firm.

The complaint said the alleged fraud has caused Harbor Tank to owe the $46.5 million to holders of warehouse receipts.

DeAngelis was taken into custody as he waited in the lobby of a building where his attorney, Walter Van Riper, has an office.

He had been scheduled to appear before Judge Robert Shaw in Newark to answer contempt charges stemming from his refusal to answer questions at bankruptcy hearings.

DeAngelis was taken to Jersey City and turned over to a Hudson County sheriff's deputy. The deputy then transported DeAngelis back to Newark to appear before Judge Shaw.

Lomuscio, a former custodian employed by Harbor Tank, was being held in Bergen County Jail, Hackensack.

He was en route home from a lecture tour in the United States.

White was born May 29, 1906. He was educated at Cambridge.

Mayor Supports Free Electors

Mayor W. L. Howard, newly elected member to the State Central Democratic Committee, went on record Friday in support of free electors.

Howard said if the issue comes up Wednesday when the committee meets in Baton Rouge to promulgate returns from the second Democratic primary, he "will vote to support the unpledged elector movement, because I feel that the people should have an opportunity to vote not only for the pledged group but also for the unpledged group."

Rep. Lawrence Gibbs, re-elected to serve on the committee, has supported free electors in the past.

Sailors To Share Spared 'Treasure'

CENTRAL ISLIP, N.Y. (AP) — Charles F. Brunke's old shipmates will rally soon around the only bottle of his whisky to survive both a Japanese torpedo and their thirst 20 years ago.

They will drink it together and remember the aircraft carrier Intrepid, the enemy air attack off the Japanese-held island of Truk, Feb. 17, 1944, and seven bottles of whisky.

The reunion was born when the torpedo slammed into the Intrepid's stern, severely damaging but not sinking the craft. Brunke's seabag containing the forbidden, smuggled bottles was stored aft and he tells you frankly that's where his first thoughts went.

"All I could think of at the time was that I had some whisky - soaked clothing back there and when they dug it out and saw my name on it—Well, I could get myself a nice court-martial," he recalls.

As soon as the attack was driven off, Brunke, an aviation machinists mate, born in Rochester, N.Y., hustled to check on the whisky he had been collecting for two years. Not a bottle was broken.

He sneaked it below decks to the compartment where he and his shipmates, a detachment of the Navy's first night fighter squadron, slept.

"We were pretty well shook up so we sat down and started to drink the stuff," he explains. "The boys were going at it hot and heavy."

As he watched the empty bottles pile up, Brunke began to think desperately of conservation. Only the seventh was left when he called a halt.

"I'm going to save it and if I'm alive 20 years from now I'll drink it."

Brunke, 49, admits that he was thinking not of reunion, or of the dead president's memory of keeping the bottle for 20 years, but only of some American people.

RIGID ECONOMY

McKeithen Tells Of Possible Cuts In Solons' Pay

BATON ROUGE (AP) — John J. McKeithen said Friday he believes in rigid economy and suggested a possible cut in legislative pay, "perhaps we'll get to the governor's pay, too."

After a luncheon with business and civic leaders here, the Democratic nominee for governor faced the press.

McKeithen told the luncheon group he would not tolerate any member of his administration "making any money on the side or making any deals."

"If I hear of anybody doing this," he said, "they will be fired as soon as I hear about it."

McKeithen is a political protégé of the late Gov. Earl K. Long, who used to shout in campaigns if anybody knew of any crookedness or wrongdoing, all they had to do was to come "and tell ol' Earl about it" and he'd act.

"I would like to see how much money the legislature has spent investigating everything—at $50 a day," the 45-year-old Columbia attorney said in his news conference.

He referred to the many special committee sessions which probed various state functions, with each member paid $50 per diem.

"If we start economizing," McKeithen said, "it might be good to start in the legislature and the governor's office."

Asked if he would consider a flat salary for legislators, McKeithen said it may be a good idea, but he was sure legislative retirement would be examined.

The current Legislative Budget Committee, operating under Gov. Jimmie H. Davis, who is responsible for preparation of the state budget for the 1964 legislature in May, plans to conduct a preliminary session here Monday.

"I'm not sure the budget committee does any good," McKeithen said, "but I don't question its sincerity." When the state budget is prepared, he added, he feels he should "see if any changes should be made."

Plans are being made for him to become acquainted with the Budget Committee work, he said. "I think it will be mandatory for me to look into this to see what we've got left."

McKeithen predicted the 1964 legislature would overwhelmingly approve his administration's program.

A code of ethics—which he described as his No. 1 bill, central listing of employees, full investment of idle funds, state-guaranteed loans for high school graduates wanting to enter college.

McKeithen said the code of ethics "probably will take some (state officials) out of the insurance business."

Asked whether he had any plans for change in the way the state handled its insurance—such as a self-insurance plan—McKeithen said he had given no thought to it.

If the legislature can come up with a good plan to change the insurance system, he commented, he would back it.

McKeithen was asked what he thought of Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater's plan calling for those on welfare to work when they're able.

Mary Evelyn Parker, former state welfare commissioner and a McKeithen aide, suggested Goldwater was referring to a welfare program for the jobless—used in several states but not in Louisiana.

"Anyone on welfare able to work should be a lot better off," McKeithen said. "I have serious doubts about welfare when there is an able-bodied male in a household. I don't know if that coincides with Goldwater's views."

"I do feel like when you put a man on welfare who is able-bodied... you will have a long time getting him off. Of course, there are lots of good men who can't find work. I don't think welfare is the answer to that problem."

Dudley LeBlanc, a former state senator who will return, has proposed raising to $100 monthly the maximum old age welfare payments, and lowering the age to 60.

On this, McKeithen said LeBlanc is the father of Louisiana's old age pension, "and there is no question the senator's heart beats for the old people."

But McKeithen said while he mentioned during his campaign cost of living boosts for welfare recipients, "we'll have to see whether we can find the money."

The new Democratic State Central Committee convenes here next Wednesday, and may decide what to do about the outgoing committee's proposal for two slates of presidential electors to be offered to the people next July 25, with one linked to unpledged electors.

McKeithen said he would leave the state Tuesday for about a week's rest out west.

McKeithen hasn't formed his campaign plans for the March 3 general election, when he faces Republican Charlton H. Lyons Sr. of Shreveport and States Rights Thomas S. Williams of Ethel.

McKeithen, in his question-and-answer session with newsmen, was calm, deliberate, humorous, brief and cooperative. "What kind of governor will you be?" he was asked.

"If I can finish this four years and see in your faces the feeling I have made a good governor," McKeithen said, "I will feel I have obtained something more valuable than all the riches of this earth."

On state spending, McKeithen was asked where he would find the money since his defeated runoff foe, deLesseps Morrison, had mentioned how he proposed to save up to $60 million.

McKeithen replied he would have to wait until Morrison comes back from Mexico and find out, adding, "but we think we can save money."

McKeithen said he would work toward finding the money to put into effect a promised teachers pay raise.

McKeithen said he would seek Morrison for usefulness in industrial development, and said an offer of a state post "was not beyond the realm of possibility," but did not have any post in mind.

Earlier, McKeithen said he would ask former Gov. Robert Kennon for advice on state sovereignty matters and consult Shelby M. Jackson, outgoing state superintendent of education who lost a bid for governor, on education problems.

On other topics, McKeithen: Suggested his college student loan program could take the place of the legislative scholarship program.

Described a proposal for a two-thirds legislative majority for future bond issues as "good government."

Promised a flow of news conferences, if elected governor, to assure "forthright government" and keep the public informed.

Described the old factionalism of Long vs. Anti-Long as fading, with growing emphasis on a candidate's personality and his platform.

Suggested caution in any move, as one legislator from St. Tammany Parish proposed, to take away the old mansion from a Baton Rouge group now promoting it as an arts and science center, because local officials should be consulted first.

Proposed to go unannounced to such state institutions as the state penitentiary, because "I want to look around, I've heard lots of stories, good and bad... but I'm not going there in disguise."

Said he isn't sure the so-called constitutional boards in charge of major state agencies serve any useful purpose.

Voiced hope some workable plan could be drafted to solve the problem of a governor taking office just as a new legislator begins.

"A new governor," he said, "certainly is hit straight in the face."

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A small tumor was removed Friday from the thyroid gland of astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. in surgical procedure at Hermann Hospital.

Paul Haney, public affairs officer at the Manned Spacecraft Center, said the tumor was not malignant.

The operation was performed by a Houston throat surgeon. It is anticipated that the operation will have no effect on his flying status, Haney said.

School Board Members Here May Run Again

Three Monroe City School Board members have indicated they may seek re-election in the May 16 first Monroe primary, but are still undecided, while one definitely will run and one other doesn't plan to be a candidate.

W. S. Gannaway, 12 years on the board, said he was definitely planning on running while W. E. Whetstone, Fifth District member on the State Board of Education, said "I am definitely not going to run. But if no one else qualifies, I will be more than delighted to serve another four years."

Those in the undecided group include Grayson Guthrie Jr., a Monroe banker who has served on the board for the past six years; board Chairman J. H. Scogin Jr., completing his first four-year term, and Frank Breese, also completing his first term.

Meanwhile, the city Democratic Executive Committee said the first primary will be held May 16 with the runoff slated June 20. City Hall posts will also be up for election, and Mayor W. L. Howard, Finance Commissioner H. W. McSherry and Street Commissioner W. D. H. Rodriguez have already said they will seek re-election. Candidates filing must qualify with the city Democratic Committee.

Liberals Need 25 GOP Votes For Cloture Rule

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Senate Democratic Whip Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn., said Friday night that the Republicans must provide at least 25 votes to stop the expected Southern filibuster against the civil rights bill.

"Without bi-partisan cooperation we won't be able to pass a bill," Humphrey warned. There's no use kidding anybody about it."

Speaking to a convocation audience at Johns Hopkins University, Humphrey said the Southern senators are prepared to wage an all-out filibuster against the bill. It will take a two-thirds vote to halt debate under the Senate's cloture rule.

"In order to get that two-thirds vote," he said, "the Democratic leadership in the Senate will have to call on Sen. Everett Dirksen, the minority leader, for Republican help. "We'll need a minimum of 25 Republican votes to end the filibuster," he added.

The majority whip said the bill now under consideration in the House "is the best civil rights legislation ever presented for a vote in Congress... It is a bipartisan bill."

Humphrey said if the Senate Republicans show the same bi-partisan spirit as has House Republican Leader Charles Halleck, Ind., "then we will have a truly meaningful bill—filibuster or no filibuster."

Police Arrest Ex-Emperor Of Vegetable Oil

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Anthony DeAngelis, whose international vegetable oil empire crumbled two months ago, was arrested along with another man Friday on a civil complaint charging they defrauded a tank storage firm of nearly $46.5 million.

DeAngelis, president of the bankrupt Allied Crude Vegetable Oil Refining Corp. of Bayonne, was arrested in Newark shortly before he was to appear in federal court for a contempt hearing.

The other defendant, Joseph Lomuscio, was arrested at his home in Englewood Cliffs.

Superior Court Judge Robert Matthews, sitting in Jersey City, set bail for each at $46,499,295.63—the amount allegedly owed to the plaintiff.

The complaint was filed by Joseph M. Nolan, trustee in bankruptcy for Harbor Tank Storage Co. of West New York.

It alleges that DeAngelis and Lomuscio committed "breach of contract and fraud." It said they fraudulently leased storage tanks at Allied's Bayonne tank farms to the West New York firm.

The complaint said the alleged fraud has caused Harbor Tank to owe the $46.5 million to holders of warehouse receipts.

DeAngelis was taken into custody as he waited in the lobby of a building where his attorney, Walter Van Riper, has an office.

He had been scheduled to appear before Judge Robert Shaw in Newark to answer contempt charges stemming from his refusal to answer questions at bankruptcy hearings.

DeAngelis was taken to Jersey City and turned over to a Hudson County sheriff's deputy. The deputy then transported DeAngelis back to Newark to appear before Judge Shaw.

Lomuscio, a former custodian employed by Harbor Tank, was being held in Bergen County Jail, Hackensack.

Wallace's Message

The governor of the sovereign state of Alabama, George C. Wallace, is not one to sit back and let the rest of the world roll by — especially when that world seems bent on rolling over his state and the South like a steam roller.

In speaking engagements throughout the country, Governor Wallace presents a picture of the South that the world should know about. He hammers out two themes, one rather general in scope, the other a clear-cut case against the civil rights bill.

Wallace says the world has been given a generally distorted picture of the South and its racial problems.

For his other point, Wallace warns his listeners that the so-called "civil rights" bill now pending in Congress is actually a federal power grab, which will usurp state and local government as well as personal property rights.

The governor has selected two excellent thrusts to illustrate his position. From the days of the book, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," the states and countries outside the South have indeed been given a distorted picture of life in Dixie.

And as for his second line of attack, the civil rights bill, any close analysis of various points in this proposed legislation show it is not aimed primarily at helping the Negro so much as it would place the strings of a national social revolution in the hands of the federal administration.

For example, the key term in the bill, "discrimination," is not defined. But, as Wallace explains to his audiences, actions by the Secretary of Labor and through the Chief Executive, can put discrimination and racial imbalance on an equal plane.

With such concentration on race as the first order of business — instead of production, sales, quality or profits — the entire business picture of the United States would be set on its ear. And while charges and counter-charges of "fair employment practices" were being bounced about in federal courts and commissions, the U.S. economy would sag to new lows. Certainly, there is nothing in the bill which would serve to improve business and living standards for any segment of our society.

We wish the governor well in his project of "bringing the message" as he calls it. When compared to the southern spokesmen who rose in Congress 30 years ago to cast their votes and support for every manner of federal aid without realizing the consequences in federal controls — even regarding the burning racial issue — Wallace is far more articulate. His speeches to college and university students bring more applause than jeers. Pickets have never amounted to more than one-tenth of those turning out to hear what the south-erner has to say.

Governor Wallace has made it clear that he will continue to fight against what he calls the dangerous Goliath of a federal government grasping for power. A close look at Title VII of the proposed civil rights bill — the section dealing with employment — as well as the public accommodations section show how accurately he has called the shot.

Treaty Rights At Stake

At this writing, the situation in Panama is still serious and is likely to remain so. Apparently, the administration had hoped to delay a major crisis over the canal by assuring the Panamanian government of further talks in about a month.

This would have caused the issue to drop in news value so that the American people would stop inquiring also. In this same light, negotiations could have been resumed in a month or so with the administration comfortably out of the spotlight.

But Panama apparently is not going to let the issue dangle. President Roberto Chiari has let it be known his country will not resume diplomatic relations with the United States until a new canal treaty is definitely in the offing.

Over the past few years, the expression referring to the "supreme law of the land" has been uttered many times. Those so saying were indicating that the word of the Supreme Court enjoyed that position in our government. They were incorrect. A treaty, however, such as the one we made with the government of the Republic of Panama in 1904 is indeed the supreme law of the United States.

So it is a crisis when a government involved insists that such a treaty be broken under threat of violence.

There can be no doubt that the anti-U.S. rioting and the bloodshed that resulted were carefully planned. Representative Armistead Selden of Alabama, chairman of the House subcommittee on Latin American Affairs, pointed out it is difficult to believe that the action of the Panamanians precipitating the crisis was spontaneous.

Certainly, it was not. Before and after Fidel Castro took over in Cuba, radical groups in Panama have pushed moves to challenge U.S. sovereignty over the Canal Zone. Assuming often the role of flag-waving patriots, these radical groups have led so-called students' mobs in a number of riots during the past five years.

Now, just such a riot has exploded right at the beginning of President Johnson's tenure of office. Since this is a presidential election year, it will be that much more difficult for Mr. Johnson to dodge the spotlight. The people of the United States as well as those in other nations are watching closely as to how the new President will conduct matters during a crisis.

The current crisis grew out of a minor — perhaps a phoney — issue over the flying of flags. In 1962, President Chiari and U.S. Brigadier General Fleming set the flags of the United States and Panama flying side by side in the Canal Zone. This turned out to be a concession which the Panamanians interpreted as a weakness.

At any rate, the concession over the flag did not ease the feelings of Panamanians who had been bitter against "yankee imperialism" for many years. Neither has foreign aid eased the tension, though it has been poured by the millions into the area. Briefly, those radicals who agitate the riots have only one objective — to drive the United States out of the Canal Zone.

This faction will see to it that the crisis remains alive. President Johnson and his advisers have called for a 30-day cooling off period. Under ordinary circumstances, this would be a wise move both politically and diplomatically.

But it appears this crisis over so vital an issue as the canal connecting the U.S. east and west coast cannot be delayed and toned down. If we do not insist — forcefully — that our own treaty rights be recognized, how can we possibly convince nations friendly to us that we would ever help to protect theirs?

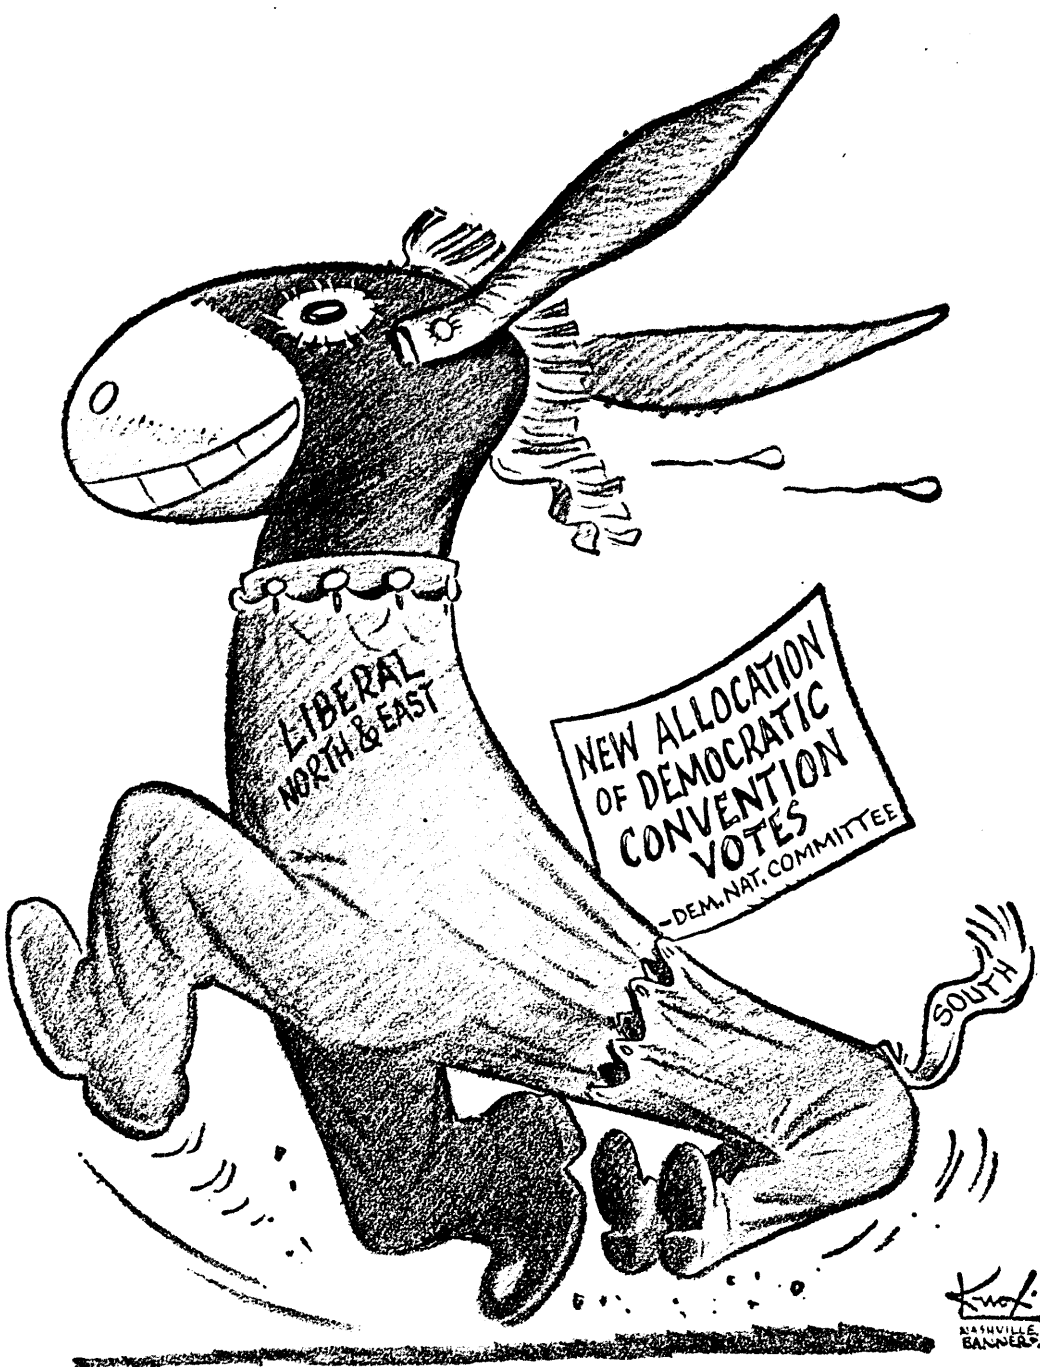

Half a million people enter and leave New York's Grand Central Terminal during an average 24-hour period.

The first commercial brewery in the New World was built in 1612 by Adrian Block and Hans Christensen in a log house on the southern tip of what is now Manhattan Island.

The first class of the United States Air Force Academy started training on July 11, 1955, at Lowry Air Force Base, Denver, Colo.

Sequoia National Park, California, includes 32 groves of sequoia trees, largest and oldest living things on earth.

Johnson Building Telephone Image

Anyone, but anyone, can expect a call from the President of the United States these days. And that anyone can be anywhere. Since he took office, President Johnson has been making congratulatory phone calls to people as unused to the kind of courtesy as the head of the New York Stock Exchange. A man or woman need only be in the news to receive the telephonic plaudits of Mr. Johnson. Every day's paper seems to carry further proof.

This is part of Mr. Johnson's strategy. In the months ahead, he must establish himself with a majority of the American people as a good President — and as a human figure. The best means for this is television. But Mr. Johnson knows that his TV image is somewhat unfortunate, and he avoids it. The cameras don't pick him up well, and his look and manner seem severe.

To reach the public, he must employ what might be called a personal diplomacy. That is, he must make contact with the opinion makers and the "influentials" — to use Madison Avenue terminology. By speaking directly to a head of an organization or the spokesman of a pressure group, he makes others associated with the recipient feel that they are honored.

There is no doubt that a phone call from the President of the United States is an awesome thing for ordinary mortals. President Kennedy learned this very rapidly when his habit of casually picking up the phone began to get widespread attention. In the case of Mr. Johnson, it is a conscious political instrument.

Personal diplomacy is one of the weapons in President Johnson's arsenal, but no President can spend his days with a receiver in his hand.

What Mr. Johnson must do, if he is to hold the adherence of the American people, remains a political constant. He must antagonize no one and encourage everyone. This is easier said than done. Somewhere along the line, an action of the President will set off fireworks among the variously antagonistic groups in this nation of multiplicity.

The State of the Union message was an effort at all-out conciliation. As a political exercise it was highly ingenious — and Mr. Johnson worked himself and his aides long hours in writing, changing, and polishing each phrase. But it carried within it the seeds of trouble. For in its promises to all, it built in contradictions which will become apparent if words are translated into actions.

PRESIDENT Johnson's major strategy, therefore, will be to have as much said by him and as little done by his Administration as is possible between now and November. The idea that he wants to "continue" what President Kennedy began is interesting reading matter but far from the Johnsonian intent.

At present, he is stuck with the tax cut and the omnibus civil rights bill. He can do little to disengage himself from those two measures without looking foolish. But beyond that, he would prefer little more than Congressional palaver and endless hearings on his "anti-poverty" campaign. The very choice of a slogan — after all, poverty is far more unpopular than sin — is an indication of the kind of political campaign President Johnson has in mind.

If President Johnson can hold Congressional action on his putatively bold, new program to the committee phase — with representatives of all groups happily testifying — and if he can prevent the publicity-accompanied heads of minority groups from stirring up riots (North and South) which would bring counter-violence, then it is believed by Democratic strategists that he has it made in November.

OF THIS I am not so sure. The South is still stirring, as the defeat of the Administration's candidate in Louisiana's gubernatorial primary indicates. The West is faced with declining farm income, the result of Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman's attempts to twist arms. The big industrial states, still dominated by the thinking of Americans for Democratic Action where the Democratic Party is concerned, are watching and waiting.

The consensus seems to be that President Johnson should be given every opportunity to strike out for himself. Cozy inaction, however, will cause him to strike out period. That is his dilemma.

Ex-Congressmen Now Lobbyists

WASHINGTON — Among the most elite lobbyists in Washington is a sizable corps of former Congressmen whose on-the-spot experience makes them valuable agents in the business of influencing legislation.

Since 1946, when the law was passed to require lobbyists to register, 20 former Senators and 74 former Representatives registered as lobbyists.

In some cases, a former Congressman became permanently associated with a single organization whose views he shared. An example is ex-Rep. Clyde T. Ellis (D Ark.) who served in the House from 1939 to 1943. He registered in 1946 as a lobbyist for the National Rural Electric Cooperative Assn. and has been its general manager ever since.

SIMILARLY, former Rep. Andrew J. Biemiller (D Wis.), who served four years in the House, registered as a lobbyist for the American Federation of Labor early in 1953 and continued to represent labor after the AFL-CIO merger in 1955. He is still the AFL-CIO director of legislation.

Former Rep. Laurie C. Battle (D Ala.) registered for the National Assn. of Manufacturers in 1959 and still works for the business group.

Ex-Rep. Jerry Voorhis (D Calif.) who lost his House seat to Richard M. Nixon (R) in 1947, lobbies for the Cooperative League of the United States of America.

On the other hand, some former Congressmen worked for many different organizations as lobbyists, frequently changing or adding employers from year to year. Thus, ex-Sen. Scott W. Lucas (D Ill.), who served in the House from 1935 to 1939 and in the Senate from 1939 to 1951, registered as a lobbyist for more than two dozen different organizations between 1951 and 1964. His latest client: Texaco, Inc., for which he registered on Dec. 11, 1963.

Because of their former service in Congress, ex-Members enjoy several advantages in lobbying activities. They have excellent knowledge of the legislative process and a good "feel" for the operations of the House or Senate which tells them precisely when and what kind of pressure to exert on behalf of their clients.

Former Members also enjoy easier access to their friends and ex-colleagues and to Congressional Committee staff members. While the ordinary lobbyist might spend weeks trying to get an appointment with an important committee chairman, former Congressmen find the way much smoother.

THERE IS one privilege, however, which former Members of the House and Senate have but which is rarely if ever used to pursue their lobbying. This is the privilege to visit the floor of the House or Senate. It is simply considered bad taste and bad manners, as a matter of custom, to lobby on the floor.

In the House, use of the floor by ex-Congressmen for lobbying purposes was circumscribed by House Rule 33 and a chair ruling in 1945 by then-Speaker Sam Rayburn (D Texas). Under the "Rayburn rule," a former Congressman was forbidden the privilege of the floor at any time the House was debating or voting on legislation in which he was interested.

In the Senate, there is no similar formal rule, but custom frowns on use of the floor privilege for lobbying.

Congressman Takes Stand To Back Zone Commander

WASHINGTON — Representative Dan Flood, D-Pa., veteran member of the powerful House Military Appropriations Subcommittee, derailed a threatened State Department proposal to ax General Andrew O'Meara, commander of U. S. forces in riot-torn Panama.

Flood not only telephoned the White House to block this back-stage move, but reinforced that by bluntly warning Undersecretary of State George Ball against it.

From an authoritative source, Flood learned that certain State Department officials were urging General O'Meara be recalled to placate Panamanian public opinion. Flood acted fast and forcefully to stop this scheme.

Phoning the White House, he warned that the removal of O'Meara would cause a furore in Congress, in which Flood would take a leading part. Shortly thereafter, when Ball briefed House leaders at a gathering in Speaker John McCormack's office, Flood reiterated his warning.

"IF GENERAL O'MEARA says our troops opened fire only after some of them had been shot by snipers, I believe him," said Flood. "He is the kind of man and soldier who doesn't make phony statements. He is the most forthright officer I have ever known. He's a credit to the service and to his country. He should be supported to the hilt."

"If there are any plans to recall General O'Meara, they had better be shelved fast. If anything like that happens, I can promise you a major upheaval in Congress. We will not stand for any appeasement, particularly this kind."

Startled and obviously impressed, Ball promised to convey this blunt word to both Secretary Rusk and the White House.

PRESIDENT Johnson and Attorney General Robert Kennedy are facing the first significant test of their tenuous arrangement to let bygones be bygones and to work together until after the November elections.

Each is supporting a strong candidate for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Maryland's May 19 primary, and the outcome of this back-stage clash of wills and personalities remains to be seen. It could end the "marriage of convenience" before getting very far.

Favored by the President is State Comptroller Louis Goldstein. Also backing him are Governor Millard Tawes, Senator Daniel Brewster, and other influential leaders of the regular party organization.

"Bobby" Kennedy's candidate is former U. S. Attorney Joseph Tydings. The son of the late long-time Senator Millard Tydings was named to this important federal job for the avowed purpose of furthering his prospects to seek the seat held by Republican Senator Glenn Beall.

PRIOR to President Kennedy's assassination, the stage was set for his administration to throw its weight behind Tydings. In various ways, he was to get the benefit of such potent support.

Now the situation is exactly the opposite.

While outwardly the President and his political lieutenants are keeping hands off this explosive Democratic contest, no doubt is being left that Comptroller Goldstein is his choice. Nothing is being said against Tydings or Attorney General Kennedy. But the undisguised enthusiasm for Goldstein comes through loud and clear.

Pointedly indicative of this is the reaction of the President's close political assistants to a complaint of undercover intervening for Tydings by a key-placed Kennedy hold-over.

It is being charged that Theodore Sorensen, special White House counsel and one of the late President's most intimate aides, is quietly proselyting for Tydings. The claim is made that Sorensen is urging influential Maryland Democrats to back Tydings.

Clifton Carter, top political lieutenant of the President, has assured Goldstein managers that Sorensen will be bluntly told to "cease and desist."

What if anything Bobby Kennedy does about this is a toss-up.

If he continues to work for Tydings, that will put him at direct loggerheads with the President and his faction. If the attorney general bows to the new administration's sentiments, he will be breaking ties with Maryland politicians who were very active for his late brother in the crucial 1960 pre-convention struggle.

DR. PETER J. STEINCROHN

Flying Snifflers Should Have Masks

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I love to travel by air. But I hate the gamble of who I'm going to sit next to. Not that I dislike people mind you; it's just that I don't like neighbors who are sniffling, coughing, sneezing and ought to be in bed and not spreading infection throughout a plane.

I recently took a trip to Omaha to attend the funeral of my grandmother. It was a four-hour journey. Next to me sat a big man with a big cough and one of the worst colds I've observed in a long time. The plane was filled. I couldn't change seats. He must have filled a boxful of tissues. I kept my fingers crossed until they hurt. But it didn't help. By the next day I had a sore throat and my ears seemed filled up.

I HAD to turn around and fly back the next day and guess what? Next to me sat a pretty girl with a pretty good cough, and a sizable sneeze, too. You can turn up your collar and twist your head away for just so long. I couldn't escape the barrage of virus bacteria that she spread in my direction. I gave up crossing my fingers and took to praying. Perhaps that's why I'm in bed today only with a cold and not with pneumonia. I wonder how many colds are spread into serious infections in planes every year?

I have a tip for the airlines who certainly are anxious for the comfort and protection of their patrons. Every plane should have a good supply of gauze masks aboard. For the protection of other passengers, hostesses should hand them out to people with colds. They won't feel self-conscious wearing them if it becomes standard practice. What do you think? — Mr. L.

Comment: Good idea. I hope the airlines take note.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: What are the symptoms of duodenal ulcer? — Mrs. H.

Comment: If you are curious only for the reason that you'd like to make the diagnosis yourself, you may be in for a great disappointment. Although there are specific symptoms usually associated, they are not always clearcut.

The typical symptoms are as follows: the ulcer patient has pains or a burning discomfort in the upper part of his abdomen. The gnawing pain continues until he takes some medicine to neutralize it or eats some food. A glass of milk will often do the trick, especially if the patient is awakened by pains very early in the morning.

FOR A few hours he is comfortable, and then the pain and burning return. Repeat performance: pain — food — relief. pain — food — relief. That is why so many ulcer patients have some milk at hand at their desks or even in their cars to relieve the pain.

Now the disappointment comes in making the diagnosis, if you rely only on these typical symptoms. I have seen many ulcer patients whose symptoms resembled hiatal hernia, gall bladder disease, colitis, nervous spasm. I recall one boy whose "ulcer symptoms" were later found to be due to kidney stone.

What is also true, is that many people have gastric or duodenal ulcer without having any troublesome symptoms. Diagnosis might be overlooked if the patient wasn't having a routine physical examination.

If in doubt about ulcer, better have your own doctor either make or discard the diagnosis. Self-diagnosis can be as dangerous as self-treatment.

Dr. Steincrohn's leaflet, "How To Get A Good Night's Sleep," will be mailed to you on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 15 cents in coin for handling. Address your request to Dr. Steincrohn, in care of this newspaper.

Wallace's Message

The governor of the sovereign state of Alabama, George C. Wallace, is not one to sit back and let the rest of the world roll by — especially when that world seems bent on rolling over his state and the South like a steam roller.

In speaking engagements throughout the country, Governor Wallace presents a picture of the South that the world should know about. He hammers out two themes, one rather general in scope, the other a clear-cut case against the civil rights bill.

Wallace says the world has been given a generally distorted picture of the South and its racial problems.

For his other point, Wallace warns his listeners that the so-called "civil rights" bill now pending in Congress is actually a federal power grab which will usurp state and local government as well as personal property rights.

The governor has selected two excellent thrusts to illustrate his position. From the days of the book, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," the states and countries outside the South have indeed been given a distorted picture of life in Dixie.

And as for his second line of attack, the civil rights bill, any close analysis of various points in this proposed legislation show it is not aimed primarily at helping the Negro so much as it would place the strings of a national social revolution in the hands of the federal administration.

For example, the key term in the bill, "discrimination," is not defined. But, as Wallace explains to his audiences, actions by the Secretary of Labor and through the Chief Executive, can put discrimination and racial imbalance on an equal plane.

With such concentration on race as the first order of business — instead of production, sales, quality or profits — the entire business picture of the United States would be set on its ear. And while charges and counter-charges of "fair employment practices" were being bounced about in federal courts and commissions, the U.S. economy would sag to new lows. Certainly, there is nothing in the bill which would serve to improve business and living standards for any segment of our society.

We wish the governor well in his project of "bringing the message" as he calls it. When compared to the southern spokesmen who rose in Congress 30 years ago to cast their votes and support for every manner of federal aid without realizing the consequences in federal controls — even regarding the burning racial issue — Wallace is far more articulate. His speeches to college and university students bring more applause than jeers. Pickets have never amounted to more than one-tenth of those turning out to hear what the southerner has to say.

Governor Wallace has made it clear that he will continue to fight against what he calls the dangerous Goliath of a federal government grasping for power. A close look at Title VII of the proposed civil rights bill — the section dealing with employment — as well as the public accommodations section show how accurately he has called the shot.

Treaty Rights At Stake

At this writing, the situation in Panama is still serious and is likely to remain so. Apparently, the administration had hoped to delay a major crisis over the canal by assuring the Panamanian government of further talks in about a month.

This would have caused the issue to drop in news value so that the American people would stop inquiring also. In this same light, negotiations could have been resumed in a month or so with the administration comfortably out of the spotlight.

But Panama apparently is not going to let the issue dangle. President Roberto Chiari has let it be known his country will not resume diplomatic relations with the United States until a new canal treaty is definitely in the offing.

Over the past few years, the expression referring to the "supreme law of the land" has been uttered many times. Those so saying were indicating that the word of the Supreme Court enjoyed that position in our government. They were incorrect. A treaty, however, such as the one we made with the government of the Republic of Panama in 1904 is indeed the supreme law of the United States.

So it is a crisis when a government involved insists that such a treaty be broken under threat of violence.

There can be no doubt that the anti-U.S. rioting and the bloodshed that resulted were carefully planned. Representative Armistead Selden of Alabama, chairman of the House subcommittee on Latin American Affairs, pointed out it is difficult to believe that the action of the Panamanians precipitating the crisis was spontaneous.

Certainly, it was not. Before and after Fidel Castro took over in Cuba, radical groups in Panama have pushed moves to challenge U.S. sovereignty over the Canal Zone. Assuming often the role of flag-waving patriots, these radical groups have led so-called students' mobs in a number of riots during the past five years.

Now, just such a riot has exploded right at the beginning of President Johnson's tenure of office. Since this is a presidential election year, it will be that much more difficult for Mr. Johnson to dodge the spotlight. The people of the United States as well as those in other nations are watching closely as to how the new President will conduct matters during a crisis.

The current crisis grew out of a minor — perhaps a phoney — issue over the flying of flags. In 1962, President Chari and U.S. Brigadier General Fleming set the flags of the United States and Panama flying side by side in the Canal Zone. This turned out to be a concession which the Panamanians interpreted as a weakness.

At any rate, the concession over the flag did not ease the feelings of Panamanians who had been bitter against "yankee imperialism" for many years. Neither has foreign aid eased the tension, though it has been poured by the millions into the area. Briefly, those radicals who agitate the riots have only one objective — to drive the United States out of the Canal Zone.

This faction will see to it that the crisis remains alive. President Johnson and his advisers have called for a 30-day cooling off period. Under ordinary circumstances, this would be a wise move both politically and diplomatically.

But it appears this crisis over so vital an issue as the canal connecting the U.S. east and west coast cannot be delayed and toned down. If we do not insist — forcefully — that our own treaty rights be recognized, how can we possibly convince nations friendly to us that we would ever help to protect theirs?

Johnson Building Telephone Image

Anyone, but anyone, can expect a call from the President of the United States these days. And that anyone can be anywhere. Since he took office, President Johnson has been making congratulatory phone calls to people as unused to this kind of courtesy as the head of the New York Stock Exchange. A man or woman need only be in the news to receive the telephonic plaudits of Mr. Johnson. Every day's paper seems to carry further proof.

This is part of Mr. Johnson's strategy. In the months ahead, he must establish himself with a majority of the American people as a good President — and as a human figure. The best means for this is television. But Mr. Johnson knows that his TV image is somewhat unfortunate, and he avoids it. The cameras don't pick him up well, and his look and manner seem severe.

TO REACH the public, he must employ what might be called a personal diplomacy. That is, he must make contact with the opinion makers and the "influentials" — to use Madison Avenue terminology. By speaking directly to a head of an organization or the spokesman of a pressure group, he makes others associated with the recipient feel that they are honored.

There is no doubt that a phone call from the President of the United States is an awesome thing for ordinary mortals. President Kennedy learned this very rapidly when his habit of casually picking up the phone began to get widespread attention. In the case of Mr. Johnson, it is a conscious political instrument.

Personal diplomacy is one of the weapons in President Johnson's arsenal, but no President can spend his days with a receiver in his hand.

What Mr. Johnson must do, if he is to hold the adherence of the American people, remains a political constant. He must antagonize no one and encourage everyone. This is easier said than done. Somewhere along the line, an action of the President will set off fireworks among the variously antagonistic groups in this nation of multiplicity.

The State of the Union message was an effort at all-out conciliation. As a political exercise it was highly ingenious — and Mr. Johnson worked himself and his aides long hours in writing, changing, and polishing each phrase. But it carried within it the seeds of trouble. For in its promises to all, it built in contradictions which will become apparent if words are translated into actions.

PRESIDENT Johnson's major strategy, therefore, will be to have as much said by him and as little done by his Administration as is possible between now and November. The idea that he wants to "continue" what President Kennedy began is interesting reading matter but far from the Johnsonian intent.

At present, he is stuck with the tax cut and the omnibus civil rights bill. He can do little to disengage himself from those two measures without looking foolish. But beyond that, he would prefer little more than Congressional palaver and endless hearings on his "anti-poverty" campaign. The very choice of a slogan — after all, poverty is far more unpopular than sin — is an indication of the kind of political campaign President Johnson has in mind.

If President Johnson can hold Congressional action on his putatively bold, new program to the committee phase — with representatives of all groups happily testifying — and if he can prevent the publicity-accustomed heads of minority groups from stirring up riots (North and South) which would bring counter-violence, then it is believed by Democratic strategists that he has it made in November.

Monroe Driver Gets Treatment After Collision

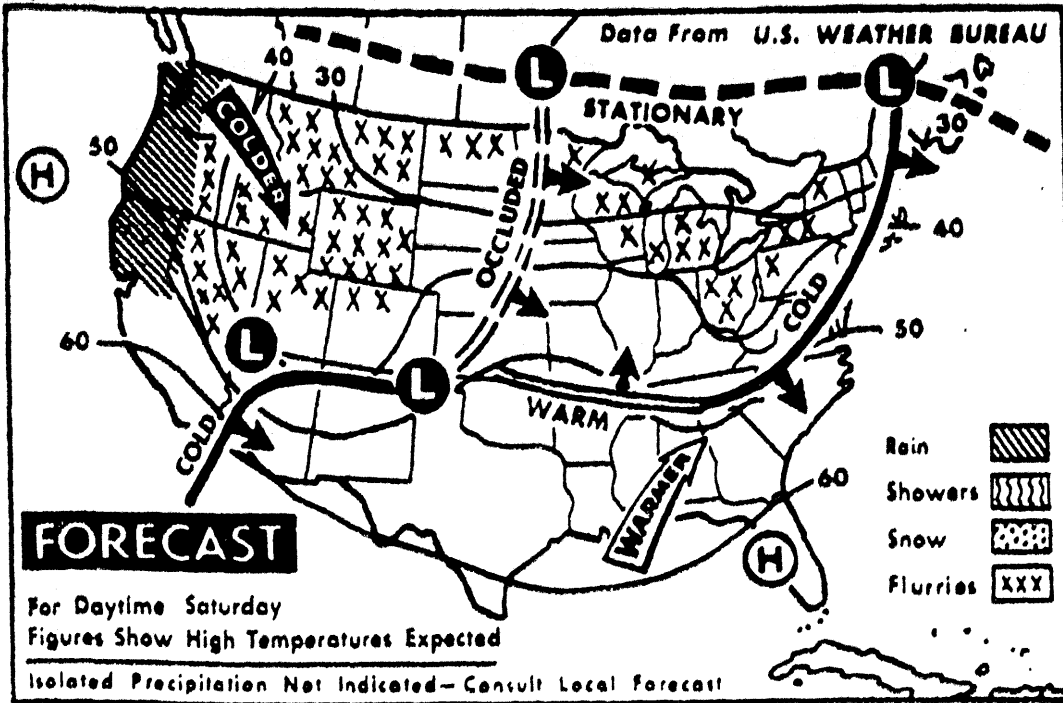

A 26-year-old Monroe woman was slightly injured in a wreck at the intersection of U.S. Hwy. 80 and Lakeshore Drive about 12:20 p.m. Friday, according to Troop F of the Louisiana State Police.

Mrs. Marilyn S. Russell, 719 Camellia Dr., was stopped in a station wagon headed west on Hwy. 80, waiting for traffic to clear to turn left onto Lakeshore.

Investigating troopers reported that a vehicle driven by James F. Pittman, 20, of Rayville, crashed into Mrs. Russell's auto from behind.

Mrs. Russell was treated at St. Francis hospital for minor injuries and released Friday afternoon.

Pittman was charged by State Police with following too close.

Metal Firm In Canada Hikes Price

NEW YORK (AP)—Aluminum Ltd. of Canada announced Friday it is joining a one-cent a pound hike to 24 cents a pound for aluminum ingot sold in the United States, effective Monday.

That left only Aluminum Co. of America, among major factors uncommitted on the increase as of late Friday. As the nation's leading producer, it can make or break a price change.

Reynolds Metals Co., second ranked producer, led the rise with an announcement late Thursday. Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp., third biggest, quickly followed. The two also boosted the price of another important category, soft extrusion alloy, by 1½ cents a pound.

Aluminum Ltd. said it was not changing its price in markets outside the United States at this time.

Ingot, the basic material from which aluminum products are made, had been on the slide for some time before Reynolds successfully led a half-cent boost last fall. Kaiser tried a one-cent boost in December, but Alcoa

Negro Loses Court Fight On Indictment

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Willie Seals Jr., 28-year-old Prichard, Ala. Negro, convicted of raping a white woman, lost another round in federal court Friday in his fight to have the indictment against him dismissed.

The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals denied a motion to dismiss an indictment against Seals and also refused to issue a stay to permit attorneys time to make an appeal to a federal district court in Alabama.

The decision came from Circuit Judges John R. Brown of Houston, Tex., and John Minor Wisdom of New Orleans and District Judge Herbert W. Christenberry of New Orleans.

Seals has been on death row at Kilby prison in Alabama since his trial in 1959 for the 1958 rape of a white woman.

Mobile County prosecutor James T. Strickland told the court he did not think Morton Stavis of Newark, N. J., one of Seals' defense attorneys, could back up his claim that Negroes were systematically excluded from the jury which convicted Seals.

The plea claimed that Negroes totaled only 3.3 per cent of the 1962-63 jury list from which the grand jury was chosen.

Strickland said the population of Mobile County is 30 per cent Negro. He said that according to the population percentage, there was no systematic exclusion of Negroes from the jury.

The woman who claimed Seals raped her and her car skidded off the road and she had just telephoned a wrecker service to pull it out.

France May Recognize Red China

er countries would provide a simple majority. There has been no indication that France and the others will change their stand, however.

Britain after recognizing Peking in 1950 supported U.S. efforts to keep the door closed to U.N. membership. Last year, however, Britain supported Peking's entry.

No action on Peking's membership is expected until the 113-nation U.N. General Assembly convenes next September. Any switch in the vote would raise a legal question—whether the decision could be reached with a simple majority. The Soviet Union has challenged a decision two years ago that a two-thirds majority is needed.

At present 60 U.N. members recognize Nationalist China and 44 recognize Peking. Eight recognize neither.

Why has De Gaulle decided to recognize Peking? The view in Paris is that the reasons are many, but the one which looms as most important in his dedication to restoring France as a global power.

Obviously he is interested in re-establishing French influence in Southeast Asia. To do so he must establish a relationship with Red China, the strongest power in that part of the world.

A France at odds with Red China could never fill a future role as mediator in disputes involving Communist and non-Communist regions in that area.

Nor could France expect any voice in final decisions which might emerge from nonmilitary discussions of Southeast Asian problems.

There are other reasons. De Gaulle does not necessarily adhere to what he sees as the American policy of giving Soviet Premier Khrushchev a hand in his political quarrel with Peking.

The French president, informants say, thinks giving Peking a little elbow room may help keep the Chinese-Soviet pot boiling.

The hard-headed realities of trade certainly play a part.

Finally, recognition of Red China is clear notice to the rest of the world that, under De Gaulle, France will follow its own path, influenced by no other consideration than what he feels is good for France.

De Gaulle has scheduled one of his rare news conferences Jan. 31. He is expected to make allusion to Red China. There could be a speedup in the original French plan. At the outset, according to government sources, France planned to broaden trade and cultural ties, then move relatively slowly toward formal recognition.

The developments came as Premier Chou En-lai of Red China was on his African tour. He is in the former French colony of Mali.

One aim of Chou is to seek expansion of trade with Africa. China would like to export low-priced manufactured goods and obtain desperately needed hard currency. The French colonies, tied economically to a prosperous France, are an inviting target.

In a radio interview, former Premier Edgar Faure, declared that France could open the Chinese mainland for the West. He went to Peking late last year as a semi-official envoy of De Gaulle, and is reported to have played an important role in the decision to extend recognition.

Faure has urged immediate recognition of Peking by Paris.

Formal Acts On Relations Break Taken

treaty under which the Panama Canal Zone was evacuated, evacuation was stepped up.

The U.S. State Department said Panama's "get out" request did not apply to consular officials, Peace Corps workers or aid officials.

The newest crisis in U.S.-Panama relations stemmed from Chiari's insistence that the United States renegotiate the 1903 Canal was built and which assured American control over the 10-mile-wide zone.

It had been assumed that an earlier U.S. promise to talk about Panama's complaints would suffice, but Chiari was not satisfied. The upshot was Friday's order to leave.

Panama Canal Co. officials set up a housing registration office in a Balboa theater. They registered 27 persons, representing 70 families. Of these 15 were Peace Corps personnel.

Some were placed in available empty apartments, others were invited by zone families to share their homes.

Among the evacuees was Herbert Hunter, a member of the AID — Agency for International Development—mission.

"I had a nice apartment in Panama City and wouldn't have evacuated but it was an order," he said.

Hunter, who has been in foreign service the past 16 years listed as his U.S. address that of a daughter, A. W. Jackson, 2314 Misty Drive, Jacksonville, Fla.

Carl Davis, embassy information officer, denied that AID or Peace Corps personnel were ordered to evacuate and said, "It was suggested that they leave Panama City."

Davis said the earlier evacuation was begun because "we knew of the student demonstration and felt it might help preserve the peace if it could be said 'American diplomatic people had gone.'"

Reports from the scene of the demonstration were that there was speechmaking and the crowd was orderly.

Manuel Trucco, Chilean chairman of the joint subcommittee of the Organization of American States' peace commission, arranged to return to Washington later Friday night.

Trucco had conferred many times separately with Chiari and that Congress moves too slowly. As a senator, he said he is fed up with critics who "judge us not on the quality of what we do, but on the quantity."

That brought another round of applause.

Goldwater urged young people to take a part in politics, and mentioned astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. who quit the space program to run for the Democratic Senate nomination in Ohio.

"He's a young man and he's expressed logical reasons for having an interest in getting into the United States Senate," Goldwater said.

Goldwater and his wife arrived here by plane from Washington shortly after dusk and the senator promptly questioned President Johnson's credentials as a Southerner.

"We never know whether he is a Southerner or a Westerner or an Easterner, depending on U.S. special envoy Edwin M. Martin.

The United States, however, did not regard the break as definite and final because of the exceptions in those asked to leave and because Martin stayed in Panama.

Trucco said he believed his talks with Chiari and Martin had been useful in preventing a deterioration of the situation.

He said no useful purpose would be served by his remaining here and that his mission would be continued in Washington, where the OAS has its headquarters.

Chiari appointed a new Panamanian representative to the OAS, Miguel Moreno Jr. Moreno, foreign minister in 1959, is known as an advocate of a tough line towards the United States. He is a candidate for president in the forthcoming elections.

The new emissary would replace Augusto Guillermo Arango, who acted as both ambassador to the United States and to the OAS until his return here at the height of the U.S.-Panama dispute last week.

Martin said he has no immediate plans to return to Washington.

An internal political crisis simmered around Chiari, who has professed determination not to renew diplomatic relations with Washington until the United States agrees to negotiate a new canal treaty. The United States has agreed only to discuss matters after relations are restored.

Students from the University of Panama, whose leadership is dominated by left-wing extremists, scheduled a downtown demonstration in support of their demand for nationalization of the canal.

Wallace Stewart, U.S. charge d'affaires, suggested to U.S. Embassy personnel that they could move into the Canal Zone if they desired as a precautionary measure before the demonstration. Arrangements were made in the zone to provide temporary quarters for any personnel who moved.

where he is," the Arizona senator said.

Sign-waving admirers clustered around Goldwater's plane, and a small band played "Dixie" as the senator arrived for his first campaign thrust into a Southern state.

Police estimated the crowd at more than 300.

One man stood at the foot of the stairway as the senator and his wife emerged from their plane and shouted, "Boo! Goldwater, go home. Have you got Robert Welch in there?"

Welch founded the militantly conservative John Birch Society. Goldwater told reporters the South's economic development is producing a new middle class of youthful conservatives by helping to create a two-party system.

"I don't consider the South to be a forgotten area," Goldwater said. "I've been in the South many, many times."

Goldwater's supporters say the Arizona senator ranks No. 1 among Southern Republicans in the race for the presidential nomination.

Negro Files Suit To Enroll At Northeast

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A Negro woman who says she tried twice without success to get an application to Northeast Louisiana State College has asked federal court to order her admission for the spring semester.

Sarah Louise McCoy, 21, of Monroe, asked the U.S. District Court here Thursday to grant a preliminary injunction barring the school from rejecting her.

She said in the suit she finally submitted an application last month, but had received no response from the school. Northeast has no Negro students, a situation that exists all across northern Louisiana although at least six college-level schools in south Louisiana have admitted Negroes.

The suit, asking the court to force through her enrollment for the spring semester starting about Feb. 5, strikes at a 1960 act of the legislature setting up Northeast as a state college for white persons.

She contends in the suit that the policies of the college violate her constitutional rights.

She could not be reached for comment on the suit.

Northeast president George T. Walker had no comment at present on the suit.

The suit was transferred to the Baton Rouge division of the federal court. A date for a hearing will be set later.

The student detailed in the suit her two efforts both unsuccessful to obtain an application from the school.

She said she went to the college in August 1961 to get an application. A policeman in a stopped her in front of the registrar's office building, she said, and a man from the registrar's office told her she could not have an application blank.

She tried again in June 1962, she said, and Registrar Chas. O. Hanna told her state laws did not permit Negroes to enroll.

She later sent in an application, this effort coming last month, but received no response from the college, she said.

A. P. Tureaud of New Orleans, chief counsel in Louisiana for the National Association of Colored People, said he wrote Northeast President Walker last July about the Negro woman's difficulties in trying to register.

Also, Tureaud said, he sent a copy of the letter to William Dodd, president of the State Board of Education.

Tureaud said he didn't receive a reply to his letter.

The suit contends the Negro is fully qualified to attend Northeast, sitting attendance in summer sessions at Southern University at Baton Rouge and Grambling College, both Negro schools.

Joan Machen, 20, Northeast State College, forfeited a $20 bond for reckless driving. Aubrey Cook, 44, 210 Morris Dr., Monroe, was fined $20 or 30 days for reckless driving, and William H. Murray, 53, R. L. 1, was fined $10 or 10 days for reckless driving.

On a similar charge, Rock Lee, 21, 304 N. 6th St., West Monroe, and Joe S. Wilhite, 21, 321 Texas Ave., Monroe, were nolle prossed.

Matthew Warren, 2909 Outroad, Monroe, forfeited a $25 bond for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages and a $55 bond for no driver's license. A reckless driving charge against him was nolle prossed.

GEORGE R. LEWIS

George R. Lewis GOP Candidate For Police Jury

George R. Lewis, 44-year-old Monroe businessman has announced as a Republican candidate for the Ouachita Parish Police Jury from Ward 10 in the March 3 general election.

Lewis is one of four Republicans running for the four Ward 10 seats. Three other Republicans, two in Ward 5 and one in Ward 3, are candidates for police jury seats in the general election. In announcing his candidacy, Lewis stated:

"I sincerely believe that a strong two-party system is the best road to responsibility and integrity in government, and I believe that a two-party political system in Louisiana will give its citizens better government from the ward level to the top administrative offices. It is the historic tradition of American politics to permit parties with differing views to compete with each other for public office.

"This gives voters a distinct choice and promotes a thorough airing and discussion of vital issues. As a check and balance system it also discourages the corruption of strong political machines which tend to remove control of the government from the hands of the electorate. The two-party system also enables the electorate to elect a candidate rather than rubber stamp a candidate chosen by the party.

"Secondly, I am interested in seeing that the Ouachita Parish Police Jury is administered impartially, economically, and conservatively. I believe that men should be elected to the Police Jury with no other motive than a sincere desire to promote efficient and business like administration of the police jury.

"I have lived in Ouachita Parish 14 years, 12 of them in Ward 10. I am married to the former Lou Mangum of Castor, Louisiana, who is a teacher and basketball coach at West Monroe High School. We have three sons and one daughter and reside at 2209 Marie place in Monroe. After receiving public school education in Bloomsburg, Pa., I was graduated from the Dickinson Law School at Carlisle, Pa. I am a 32nd degree Mason and member of Western Star Masonic Lodge No. 24, an active member of the First Presbyterian Church in Monroe, the Twin Cities Y.M.C.A., the L. B. Faulk Post of the American Legion, an assistant scoutmaster in Troop 38 of the Boy Scouts of America.

"I am offering myself as a Republican candidate but not as part of any slate in the forthcoming election. I am campaigning for a seat from Ward 10 on the Police Jury and wish to remind Democrats or independent voters that in the general election that they can split their votes by voting for one or more Democrats or one or more Republicans for a total of four candidates for police jury.

"Many Democrats have, in the past, been under the mistaken impression that a Democrat cannot vote in the general election. This is not true and I wish to correct this impression in the general election in March. I earnestly solicit the support of Ward 10 voters and ask that you help me establish a two-party system in the south and better government in the Ouachita Parish Police Jury."

Negro Files Suit To Enroll At Northeast

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A Negro woman who says she tried twice without success to get an application to Northeast Louisiana State College has asked federal court to order her admission for the spring semester.

Sarah Louise McCoy, 21, of Monroe, asked the U.S. District Court here Thursday to grant a preliminary injunction barring the school from rejecting her.

She said in the suit she finally submitted an application last month, but had received no response from the school.

Northeast, with an enrollment of about 3,350, has no Negro students — a situation that exists all across northern Louisiana although at least six college-level schools in south Louisiana have admitted Negroes.

The suit, asking the court to force through her enrollment for the spring semester starting about Feb. 5, strikes at a 1950 act of the legislature setting up Northeast as a state college for white persons.

She contends in the suit that the policies of the college violate her constitutional rights. She could not be reached for comment on the suit.

Northeast president George T. Walker has no comment at present on the suit.

The suit was transferred to the Baton Rouge division of the federal court. A date for a hearing will be set later.

The student detailed in the suit her two efforts — both unsuccessful — to obtain an application from the school.

She said she went to the college in August 1961 to get an application. A policeman stopped her in front of the registrar's office building, she said, and a man from the registrar's office told her she could not have an application blank.

She tried again in June 1963, she said, and Registrar Clint O. Hanna told her state laws did not permit Negroes to enroll.

She later sent in an application — this effort coming last month — but received no response from the college, she said.

A. P. Tureaud of New Orleans, chief counsel in Louisiana for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said he wrote Northeast President Walker last July about the Negro woman's difficulties in trying to register. Also, Tureaud said, he sent a copy of the letter to William Dodd, president of the State Board of Education.

Tureaud said he didn't receive a reply to his letter.

The suit contends the Negro is fully qualified to attend Northeast, citing attendance in summer sessions at Southern University at Baton Rouge and Grambling College, both Negro schools.

George R. Lewis GOP Candidate For Police Jury

George R. Lewis, 44-year-old Monroe businessman has announced as a Republican candidate for the Ouachita Parish Police Jury from Ward 10 in the March 3 general election.

Lewis is one of four Republicans running for the four Ward 10 seats. Three other Republicans, two in Ward 5 and one in Ward 3, are candidates for police jury seats in the general election. In announcing his candidacy, Lewis stated:

"I sincerely believe that a strong two-party system is the best road to responsibility and integrity in government, and I believe that a two-party political system in Louisiana will give its citizens better government from the ward level to the top administrative offices. It is the historic tradition of American politics to permit parties with differing views to compete with each other for public office.

"This gives voters a distinct choice and promotes a thorough airing and discussion of vital issues. As a check and balance system it also discourages the corruption of strong political machines which tend to remove control of the government from the hands of the electorate. The two-party system also enables the electorate to elect a candidate rather than rubber stamp a candidate chosen by the party.

"Secondly, I am interested in seeing that the Ouachita Parish Police Jury is administered impartially, economically, and conservatively. I believe that men should be elected to the Police Jury with no other motive than a sincere desire to promote efficient and business like administration of the police jury.

"I have lived in Ouachita Parish 14 years, 12 of them in Ward 10. I am married to the former Lou Mangum of Castor, Louisiana, who is a teacher and basketball coach at West Monroe University at Baton Rouge and Grambling College, both Negro schools.

Two other children, Lou Edward Pennywell, 14 months, and Carolyn Pennywell, 3, were saved by a Negro boy identified as Sylvester Rodgers. ## Postal Head Tells Of Plan On Economy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Postmaster General John A. Gronouski announced Friday that part of his previously announced economy program will go into effect sooner than expected.

Gronouski announced Jan. 2 that the number of his department's automatic data processing centers would be reduced from 14 to 6 during fiscal 1965.

After meeting with President Johnson at Austin, Tex. in January, Gronouski announced that the postal deficit would be reduced by $100 million in the fiscal year starting July 1. He said there would be a cut of 5,000 in postal employment by June 30.

He announced Friday that the data processing consolidation program—which will eliminate the jobs of another 530 postal workers—will get under way June 3.

The first data processing centers to be eliminated are those in Wichita, Kan., Memphis, Tenn., Seattle, Wash., and Richmond, Va., a spokesman said.

The six centers remaining after the consolidation is completed, Gronouski said, will be those at San Francisco, Dallas, St. Louis, Minneapolis, New York and Atlanta.

A department spokesman said the 530 jobs to be eliminated will be in addition to the 5,000 reduction Gronouski had announced at Austin. But he said the saving of $4 million anticipated from the consolidation was included in the $100 million saving the postmaster general had promised.

The elimination of centers at Wichita, Memphis, St. Louis, Seattle and Richmond is only the first step in the consolidation program, the spokesman said.

During fiscal 1965, the Chicago center will be absorbed by Minneapolis; Boston will be consolidated into the New York center; Cincinnati into St. Louis, and Philadelphia into Atlanta, the spokesman said.

Gronouski told a conference of the directors of the 15 postal regions that the six data processing centers left after the consolidation will operate under the direct supervision of postal headquarters in Washington. He said data processing will no longer be under the jurisdiction of individual regions.

Gronouski said all career employees will receive reasonable offers of employment elsewhere within the postal service. He said efforts would be made to find jobs elsewhere for those who decline assignments within the postal service.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A masked gunman killed a mother of four Friday and, with his partner, robbed a real estate office of $232.

A witness said the gunman shot Mrs. Edward Brookman, 39, wife of a taxi driver, after he entered the real estate office of Pauline Legier and demanded money.

Authorities recovered a car believed to be the get-away vehicle.

Police described the murderer as 23 to 25 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall, and weighing about 160 pounds. The accomplice was described as 23 to 25 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, and weighing about 140 pounds. Both were Negroes.

Roy J. Plaisance said he and Mrs. Brookman were closing a real estate deal when the unmasked man asked Mrs. Brookman if she had any odd jobs he could do.

She was quoted as telling him no about the time the masked companion walked in with a gun in his hand.

The masked gunman shot Mrs. Brookman after his partner took the money and the two started to leave. She was hit in the right chest.

A maid, working in a residence above the office, said she heard a shot and scream and went down to investigate.

Leona Taylor, 31, quoted Mrs. Brookman as saying "Help me, help me," before she died.

Mrs. Brookman's husband, who rushed to the office when he received news of the shooting, said his wife was the financial mainstay of the family.

Incumbent, Taft Set To Defeat Astronaut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young and Republican Congressman Robert Taft Jr. have served notice on astronaut John Glenn that he faces a rough campaign in his bid for the Senate from Ohio.

Young, 74, predicted flatly Friday he will beat Glenn for the Democratic senatorial nomination in the May 5 Ohio primary. He added he expects to be reelected in November.

Taft, a member of a family whose name is a by-word in Ohio politics, adopted a more cautious approach by noting "Mr. Glenn probably would be a formidable candidate in the primary and, if nominated, in the general election."

Senators Vote To Make Baker Affair Public

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators investigating the business affairs of Robert G. Baker voted Friday to make public information they have received about a $200,000 insurance policy issued on the life of President Johnson.

Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, announced the decision after a closed-door hearing.

He said the information will include all of the testimony given in secret session by Don B. Reynolds, Washington and Silver Spring, Md., insurance agent who issued the policy, and a sworn statement by someone else — "not the President" — who knows the facts.

Jordan, as he had stated previously, told newsmen "there is nothing wrong" involved in the issuance of the policy by the insurance firm headed by Reynolds, which once listed Baker as a vice president.

The committee is investigating the outside business dealings of Baker, who resigned last Oct. 7 from the powerful post of secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

It seeks to determine whether Baker or anyone else on the Senate payroll was involved in conflict of interest or other improper activities.

Reynolds testified for three hours Friday and about five hours Jan. 9 at closed hearings in which the committee quizzed him about his dealings with Baker and the sale of the insurance policy to Johnson, some time after Johnson's 1955 heart attack.

Jordan announced that Reynolds' testimony, as well as the statement from a source he wouldn't identify in advance, will be made public Monday or Tuesday.

The congressman did not say flatly he thought he would win. Taft is opposed by Ohio Secretary of State Ted W. Brown in the primary. If he wins, he will face either Young or Glenn in November.

Taft said the campaign "ought to give Ohioans the widest and clearest choice possible of men and issues." He said he planned to present national and international issues in detail and with clarity.

In his statement, Young reviewed his record in the Senate during his one-term tenure, adding, "I know I can do more for Ohio than any of my opponents, Democratic or Republican."

The senator has been an administration backer and party-line voter.

Glenn's announcement at a news conference in Columbus, Ohio, tossed the state Democratic party into turmoil because the party — at its convention next Monday, was all set to endorse incumbent Young for the second term. The announcement brought mixed reaction from Congress.

Rep. William H. Ayres, R-Ohio, sent a telegram to astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr., suggesting that he return to his native New Hampshire and file for the Republican presidential primary.

"Having known you before you were an astronaut, I feel confident that you are as qualified to make the New Hampshire race as is your former colleague for the position he is seeking in Ohio," Ayres said.

Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, backed Young and said Glenn was trying to make the office of senator "a hero's pawn."

Young told an informal news conference he had not seen Glenn's announcement "because I have been busy tending to my duties as a public servant." He said if he lost the election he would practice law in Cleveland, Ohio, and Washington.

He answered reporters' questions with "I have no comment, but"—and then launched into long explanations of his record in Congress.

He said he probably would campaign only on Saturdays in the state because he would be in Washington during the week. Young said he would not campaign on Sundays "because my old mother thought it was a mortal sin to conduct business on Sunday."

MORE VICTIMS SUSPECTED

White Slavers Kill 15 Teen-Age Girls

LEON, Mexico (AP)—Police said Friday that 17 bodies, 15 teen-age girls and two infants, had been uncovered in a search for victims of a prostitution ring that killed to keep discipline.

Angel Mota Ayala, a state police agent directing the investigation, said the number killed is believed to be around 30.

"It could go higher," he said. All except two of the bodies uncovered so far have been found at an isolated ranch near Leon, about 200 miles west of Mexico City, where the ring's alleged operations were centered.

The remaining two bodies were found at a house of prostitution in a nearby town, San Francisco del Rincon, Ayala said.

Police Chief Enrique Perez Salazar of Guanajuato State, where the ring was smashed earlier this week, said an investigation indicated the disciplinary killings had been going on for almost 10 years. He said the ring secretly buried its victims.

Salazar said the search for bodies has spread into six cities. He said Maria del Jesus Gonzalez Valenzuela, 52, and her sister, Delfina, 42, are accused as the leaders of the ring.

Salazar said the sisters and nine other persons were being held in Leon pending completion of the police investigation and filing of formal charges. He said searches would be made of houses and farms in other areas owned by the alleged ring leaders.

In addition to Leon and San Francisco del Rincon, Salazar said the search had spread into Mexico's second — largest city, Guadalajara; into the popular tourist city of Guanajuato and Silao and Lagos de Moreno, State Atty. Gen. Raul Aranda said.

The elimination of centers at Wichita, Memphis, St. Louis, Seattle and Richmond is only the first step in the consolidation program, the spokesman said.

During fiscal 1965, the Chicago center will be absorbed by Minneapolis; Boston will be consolidated into the New York center; Cincinnati into St. Louis; and Philadelphia into Atlanta, the spokesman said.

Gronouski told a conference of the directors of the 15 postal regions that the six data processing centers left after the consolidation will operate under the direct supervision of postal headquarters in Washington. He said data processing will no longer be under the jurisdiction of individual regions.

Gronouski said all career employees will receive reasonable offers of employment elsewhere within the postal service. He said efforts would be made to find jobs elsewhere for those who decline assignments within the postal service.

Incumbent, Taft Set To Defeat Astronaut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young and Republican Congressman Robert Taft Jr. have served notice on astronaut John Glenn that he faces a rough campaign in his bid for the Senate from Ohio.

Young, 74, predicted flatly Friday he will beat Glenn for the Democratic senatorial nomination in the May 5 Ohio primary. He added he expects to be reelected in November.

Taft, a member of a family whose name is a by-word in Ohio politics, adopted a more cautious approach by noting "Mr. Glenn probably would be a formidable candidate in the primary and, if nominated, in the general election."

Masked Robber Kills Mother, Steals Money

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A masked gunman killed a mother of four Friday night, with his partner, robbed a real estate office of $232.

A witness said the gunman shot Mrs. Edward Brookman, 39, wife of a taxi driver, after he entered the real estate office of Pauline Legier and demanded money.

Authorities recovered a car believed to be the get-away vehicle.

Police described the murderer as 23 to 25 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall, and weighing about 160 pounds. The accomplice was described as 23 to 25 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, and weighing about 140 pounds. Both were Negroes.

Roy J. Plaisance said he and Mrs. Brookman were closing a real estate deal when the masked man asked Mrs. Brookman if she had any odd jobs he could do.

She was quoted as telling him no about the time the masked companion walked in with a gun in his hand.

The masked gunman shot Mrs. Brookman after his partner took the money and the two started to leave. She was hit in the right chest.

A maid, working in a residence above the office, said she heard a shot and scream and went down to investigate.

Leona Taylor, 31, quoted Mrs. Brookman as saying "Help me, help me," before she died.

Mrs. Brookman's husband, who rushed to the office when he received news of the shooting, said his wife was the financial mainstay of the family.

Senators Vote To Make Baker Affair Public

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators investigating the business affairs of Robert G. Baker voted Friday to make public information they have received about a $200,000 insurance policy issued on the life of President Johnson.

Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, announced the decision after a closed-door hearing.

He said the information will include all of the testimony given in secret session by Don B. Reynolds, Washington and Silver Spring, Md., insurance agent who issued the policy, and a sworn statement by someone else—"not the President"—who knows the facts.

Jordan, as he had stated previously, told newsmen "there is nothing wrong" involved in the issuance of the policy by the insurance firm headed by Reynolds, which once listed Baker as a vice president.

The committee is investigating the outside business dealings of Baker, who resigned last Oct. 7 from the powerful post of secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

It seeks to determine whether Baker or anyone else on the Senate payroll was involved in conflict of interest or other improper activities.

Reynolds testified for three hours Friday and about five hours Jan. 9 at closed hearings in which the committee quizzed him about his dealings with Baker and the sale of the insurance policy to Johnson, some time after Johnson's 1955 heart attack.

Jordan announced that Reynolds' testimony, as well as the statement from a source he wouldn't identify in advance, will be made public Monday or Tuesday.

LBJ To Inform Solons Of Tax, Poverty Plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson sends two messages to Congress early next week spelling out his plans to cut federal spending and still launch a $1 billion anti-poverty campaign and provide for other public welfare programs.

The President's Economic Message, a report on the nation's fiscal position, goes to the House and Senate Monday. On Tuesday the President submits his budget, which he already has said will call for spending $97.9 in the 12 months starting next July 1.

This is $500 million less than is expected to be spent in the current year and $900 million less than President Kennedy originally proposed last January for the 12 months ending June 30. The government still would be operating in the red but the deficit would be slashed from the current $10 billion to $4.9 billion.

Johnson estimated tax receipts in fiscal 1965 at $93 billion, some $6 billion more than expected this year.

The President has slashed defense spending by some $1 billion—the amount he proposes to pour into his anti-poverty program to aid the one-fifth of all American families now living on the "outskirts of hope."

MORE VICTIMS SUSPECTED

White Slavers Kill 15 Teen-Age Girls

LEON, Mexico (AP) — Police said Friday that 17 bodies, 15 teen-age girls and two infants, had been uncovered in a search for victims of a prostitution ring that killed to keep discipline.

Angel Mota Ayala, a state police agent directing the investigation, said the number killed is believed to be around 30.

"It could go higher," he said. All except two of the bodies uncovered so far have been found at an isolated ranch near Leon, about 200 miles west of Mexico City, where the ring's alleged operations were centered.

The remaining two bodies were found at a house of prostitution in a nearby town, San Francisco del Rincon, Ayala said.

Police Chief Enrique Perez Salazar of Guanajuato State, where the ring was smashed earlier this week, said an investigation indicated the disciplinary killings had been going on for almost 10 years. He said the ring secretly buried its victims.

Salazar said the search for bodies has spread into six cities. He said Maria del Jesus Gonzalez Valenzuela, 52, and her sister, Delfina, 42, are accused as the leaders of the ring.

Salazar said the sisters and nine other persons were being held in Leon pending completion of the police investigation and filing of formal charges. He said searches would be made of houses and farms in other areas owned by the alleged ringleaders.

In addition to Leon and San Francisco del Rincon, Salazar said the search had spread into Mexico's second-largest city, Guadalajara; into the popular tourist city of Guanajuato and Silao and Lagos de Moreno.

Garrison Gives No Credit To Senate Rumor

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison, rumored as a possible candidate for the U.S. Senate, said Friday night his only interest at present is the district attorney's office.

A broadcast report said Garrison planned to run in 1966 for the seat now held by Sen. Allen J. Ellender whose term expires Jan. 3, 1967. The report said Garrison would have the backing of Democratic gubernatorial nominee John J. McKeithen.

"The report is very flattering," Garrison said. "My only interest now is the district attorney's office. If I ever did decide to run for the Senate I would welcome the support of Gov. McKeithen."

Northeast Invades Northwestern Court

JOE CANAL, Neville's all-state guard, completes a fast break here as he sails up for a left-handed layup. This action came in the second quarter of Friday night's game as the Tigers pulled away from 2AA district foe Ruston. ## CLIMBING THE LADDER

Neville Tags Ruston For District Victory

By KEITH PRINCE
World Sports Writer

Neville, tagged as the team to beat in double-A again this season, proved it's on top of the heap Friday night.

The Tigers took a giant step up that golden ladder of victory amidst a screaming crowd of rooters at the Neville gym when it defeated Ruston's talented Bearcats, 70-61.

The all-important 2AA clash was the first meeting of the year for these two North Louisiana cage powers. Coach Donmon Garner's Cats brought a 15-4 mark into the scrap and Neville now has a glowing 24-2 mark for the year but more important is over a large district hurdle.

Setting the stage for a pulsating varsity contest, Neville's "B" team also won a thriller 54-50. Jay Eppinette with 17, Mack Marsh with 15 and Bill Dunn with 13 led the Tigers' scoring. Buddy Canard netted 14 for the losing Bearcat "B-ers" while Brooks got 13 and Horn 12.

Most impressive about the Neville victory, aside from a tremendous second quarter spree in which the contest was just about wrapped up, was the balanced scoring attack of Coach Benny Hollis' crew. Team consistency, the mark of a champion, was most evident in Neville's offense Friday night.

J. Dodd Brooks, the only starter who will return next year, walked away with high point honors, scoring 18 points on six fielders and six gratis tosses but he was not alone.

Joe Canal played a top-notch defensive game and hit frequently on his favorite long shot. The all-star finished with 17 points. Malcolm Smith and John Garrett chipped in 16 points and teamed with pivot Gary Holt. Neville's consistent defensive game who gets little credit, to lead club rebounders.

Several times the game seemed headed for a runaway but each time Ruston's smooth George Stone would come through with a couple of field goals and put the pressure back on Neville. The lefty shooter scored 21 points for game high honors. He was followed on his team by Billy Jack Colvin, a jumping jack who got 12.

The Bearcats were equal to the demand in three of the four quarters but a second quarter lapse, or perhaps a superior Neville effort, was the difference.

Ruston went into the second frame leading 18-16 thanks to some fine shooting by Stone, Reggie Cassibry and Don Dyson. But here the tide, and lead, quickly changed. Garrett quickly sandwiched two-pointers around Stone's jump shot and with 2:32 left the Neville lead was again at a somewhat comfortable seven points.

By the end of the quarter, Neville led 55-45 and Ruston was again where it ended the half—behind the eight ball.

In the last quarter Stone tried desperately to work free for shots, and did score six points, but it didn't help much.

Neville was able to hold its 10-point lead most of the way and led by 12 with just eight seconds remaining until David Dyson hit a driving layup on which he was fouled.

The substitute guard calmly sank the free toss and cut the margin to nine, 70-61, at which it ended.

The third quarter looked like a pro-Ruston frame at the start. With five minutes of playing time gone the Bearcats had whittled the lead to three, 41-38. Curtis Barham had hit twice, while Stone and Colvin chipped in a fielder each to trim the lead.

But Smith, Holt, Brooks and Garrett quickly sandwiched two-pointers around Stone's jump shot and with 2:32 left the Neville lead was again at a somewhat comfortable seven points.

Indians Out To End Loss Streak Today

Northeast State attempts to zoom out of the depths of a three-game losing streak tonight in a Gulf States Conference basketball game against Northwestern in Natchitoches.

Tipoff time is 7:30. The Indians have lost to Southwestern, McNeese and LeTourneau College in their latest three starts and are in danger of dipping below .500 for the first time this year. Although the Redskins have been at the break-even level four times this year, they have yet to drop below that point. Currently they are 7-7.

Northwestern and Northeast are tied for third place in the GSC, each with 1-2 records. The Demons from Natchitoches have lost road games to Southwestern and Louisiana Tech and beaten McNeese at home. Overall, they are 6-7.

For the past two years, Northwestern has been one of Northeast's favorite opponents. The Indians own four straight victories over the Demons, who are the only league team Northeast has beaten on the road twice in a row.

This year's Demon team, however, is evidently much better than those of the past two seasons.

All-GSC guard Tommy Mathis is the leading Northwestern scorer with 15.5 average while Billy Ray is averaging 12.4 and star rookie David Clark 10.6. Big Sam Watts, second team all-conference last year, is not pulling down as many rebounds as he did last winter but he is still an amazing shooter. He has made 63 per cent of his field shots.

Northwestern is not quite as big as some of the team's Northeast has been playing but still a lot bigger than the Indians with a 6-3 average to Northeast's 6-4.

Height was one of the big factors in Northeast's 89-81 loss to LeTourneau here Thursday night. The visiting Yellowjackets got a total of 46 points from two 6-6 giants, Don Gordon and Wayne Diamond, and controlled the backboards. Excellent shooting from the floor by the Yellowjackets, they hit 52.4 per cent, and the loss of star Indian center Jimmy Walker on fouls in the second half were other factors that spelled defeat for the Tribe.

Coach Lenny Fank will probably start Walker, Irby Gamble, Tommy Enloe, Larry Butler and either Dick Williams or Billy Brooks. Brooks started the first 13 Northeast games and Williams opened against LeTourneau. Walker is averaging 17.9 points. Gamble broke out of a slump Thursday with 18 points while Enloe continued to shine offensively with 20 points.

Monday night Northeast returns home for a big conference date with Louisiana Tech.

But the East remains optimistic. "It's going to be a hard day's work but I feel we can beat them," said Tom Sestak. Buffalo's all-league tackle. "They are so well-balanced, running and passing, you can't concentrate on any one guy because another can kill you."

Coach Mike Holovak of the Boston Patriots, who is directing the East, also has some top offensive stars—Kemp and his alternate, Babe Parilli, along with fullback Cookie Gilchrist of Buffalo, Larry Garrison of Boston and Billy Mathis of the New York Jets.

While the West has greater speed in offense, the East has better power, notably with the 251-pound Gilchrist.

Defensive anchor man for the West, coached by San Diego's Sid Gillman, is Earl Faison, 262-pound Charger end. Faison was named the outstanding lineman of the 1963 All-Star game and is pointing for a repeat.

ONE OF the mainstays on the Northeast State team this winter has been little Irby Gamble. Gamble, a 5-7 senior guard, scored 18 points against LeTourneau Tech Thursday night in one of his better performances. Gamble will be in action tonight against Northwestern State.

Attacking West Picked To Beat

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The attack-minded West remains favored to defeat the defensively rugged East in the American Football League's annual All-Star game Sunday.

The East may be hampered by an ailing starting quarterback Jack Kemp of the Buffalo Bills, who has been troubled by a severe cold the past few days. He is expected to play, however.

The game will be nationally televised by ABC, starting at 4:30 p.m., EST.

The East defense will have its hands full trying to stop an offense built around quarterback Tobin Rote, who led the San Diego Chargers to the league's championship.

The veteran passer has a superb receiver in Art Powell of the Oakland Raiders. And he can expect tremendous running from his San Diego teammates, Keith Lincoln, Al Loe Alworth and Paul Lowe, and Oakland's Clem Daniels.

The victory leaves Tech undefeated in conference play after four starts and in a tie with Southwestern for the loop lead.

McNeese now has a 1-4 GSC record. Overall Tech is 7-4 and McNeese 7-11.

The Cowboys led by a comfortable margin most of the night and had built a 40-31 advantage with 12:30 minutes left to play.

Then Tech came alive, chalking up 10 straight points to go ahead for the first time 41-40 at the 10 minute mark.

The lead changed hands three times in the next five minutes before the Bulldogs moved in front to stay 47-46 on a fielder by Ray Penny from just inside the foul circle.

Tech quickly pulled away to a six-point edge before McNeese narrowed the gap in the final seconds.

The Pokes led 30-23 at the half.

Penny and Joe Abendroth led Tech scorers with 17 and 14 points respectively. Husky Jerry Hood contributed greatly to the Tech victory by hauling down 10 rebounds in the hard fought game.

Northeast Invades Northwestern Court

JOE CANAL, Neville's all-state guard, completes a fast break here as he sails up for a left-handed layup. Neville Tags Ruston For District Victory

By KEITH PRINCE
World Sports Writer

Neville, tagged as the team to beat in double-A again this season, proved why it's on top of the heap Friday night.

The Tigers took a giant step up that golden ladder of victory amidst a screaming crowd of rooters at the Neville gym when it defeated Ruston's talented Bearcats, 70-61.

The all-important 2AA clash was the first meeting of the year for these two North Louisiana cage powers. Coach Demmon Garner's Cats brought a 15-4 mark into the scrap and Neville now has a glowing 24-2 mark for the year but more import is over a large district hurdle.

Setting the stage for a pulsating varsity contest, Neville's "B" team was to have a thriller 54-50.

Jay Eppinette with 17, Mack Marsh with 15 and Bill Dunn with 13 led the Tigers' scoring. Buddy Camors netted 14 for the losing Bearcat "B-ers" while Brooks got 13 and Horn 12.

Most impressive about the Neville victory, aside from a tremendous second quarter spree in which the contest was just about wrapped up, was the balanced scoring attack of Coach Benny Hollis' crew. Team consistency, the mark of a champion, was most evident in Neville's offense Friday night.

J. Dodd Brooks, the only starter who will return next year, walked away with high point honors, scoring 18 points on six fielders and six gratis tosses but he was not alone.

Joe Canal played a top-notch defensive game and hit frequently on his favorite long set shot. The all-stater finished with 17 points. Malcolm Smith and John Garrett chipped in 16 points and teamed with pivot Gary Holt, Neville's consistent defensive gem who gets little credit, to lead club rebounders.

Several times the game seemed headed for a runaway but each time Ruston's smooth George Stone would come through with a couple of field goals and put the pressure back on Neville. The lefty shooter scored 21 points for game high honors. He was followed on his team by Billy Jack Colvin, a jumping jack who got 12.

The Bearcats were equal to the demand in three of the four quarters but a second quarter lapse, or perhaps a superior Neville effort, was the difference.

Ruston went into the second frame leading 18-16 thanks to some fine shooting by Stone. Reggie Cassibry and Don Dy-

Calvin Tourney In Final Day

CALVIN (Special) — Semifinals and finals will be held today in the last day of action for the Calvin Invitational cage meet.

Today's schedule has Calvin taking on the Dodson girls at 11:30, Weston meeting Sikes girls at 1:00, Weston and Calvin playing in a boys game at 2:30, and Dodson facing Jonesboro at 4:00 in the last semi-final tilt.

Finals start at 7:00 and 8:30.

Friday Dodson's girls won 59-56 over Saline. Judy Cooper hit 34 for the winners and Barbara Raborn got 20 for the losers. Also in girls play, Calvin won over Campiti, 58-22. Martha Carpenter hit 13 for Calvin and Mary Guinn 13 for Campiti.

Boys play had Weston rolling by Harrisonburg despite a 29-point performance by David Mitchell. Ricky Teel led the winners with 27.

Jonesboro waltzed over Atlanta 81-47 with Buddy Stevenson netting 10. Terry Bandy got 12 for Atlanta.

Indians Out To End Loss Streak Today

Northeast State attempts to zoom out of the depths of a three-game losing streak tonight in a Gulf States Conference basketball game against Northwestern in Natchitoches.

Tipoff time is 7:30.

The Indians have lost to Southwestern, McNeese and LeTourneau College in their latest three starts and are in danger of dipping below .500 for the first time this year. Although the Redskins have been at the break-even level four times this year, they have yet to drop below that point.

Currently they are 7-7. Northwestern and Northeast are tied for third place in the GSC, each with 1-2 records. The Demons from Natchitoches have lost road games to Southwestern and Louisiana Tech and beaten McNeese at home. Overall, they are 6-7.

For the past two years, Northwestern has been one of Northeast's favorite opponents. The Indians own four straight victories over the Demons, who are the only league team Northeast has beaten on the road twice in a row.

This year's Demon team, however, is evidently much better than those of the past two seasons.

All-GSC guard Tommy Mathis is the leading Northwestern scorer with 15.5 average while Billy Ray is averaging 12.4 and star rookie David Clark 10.6. Big Sam Watts, second team all-conference last year, is not pulling down as many rebounds as he did last winter but he is still an amazing shooter. He has made 63 per cent of his field shots.

Northwestern is not quite as big as some of the team's Northeast has been playing but still a lot bigger than the Indians with a 6-3 average to Northeast's 6-0.

Height was one of the big factors in Northeast's 89-81 loss to LeTourneau here Thursday night. The visiting Yellowjackets got a total of 46 points from two 6-6 giants, Don Gordon and Wayne Diamond, and controlled the backboards. Excellent shooting from the floor by the Yellowjackets, they hit 52.4 per cent, and the loss of star Indian center Jimmy Walker on fouls in the second half were other factors that spelled defeat for the Tribe.

Coach Lenny Fant will probably start Walker, Irby Gamble, Tommy Enloe, Larry Butler and either Dick Williams or Billy Brooks. Brooks started the first 13 Northeast games and Williams opened against LeTourneau.

Walker is averaging 17.9 points. Gamble broke out of a slump Thursday with 18 points while Enloe continued to shine offensively with 20 points.

Monday night Northeast returns home for a big conference date with Louisiana Tech.

Gilbert Tops Fort Necessity

FORT NECESSITY (Special) — Gilbert's boys defeated Fort Necessity 61-57 here Friday night behind the 25 point scoring of Perry Parker. Ronald Camp scored 15 for the losers.

In the girls game Fort Necessity won 51-48. Peggy Winters scored 19 points for the winners and Sherry Emfinger had 17 for the losers.

Attacking West Picked To Beat

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The attack-minded West remains favored to defeat the defensively rugged East in the American Football League's annual All-Star game Sunday.

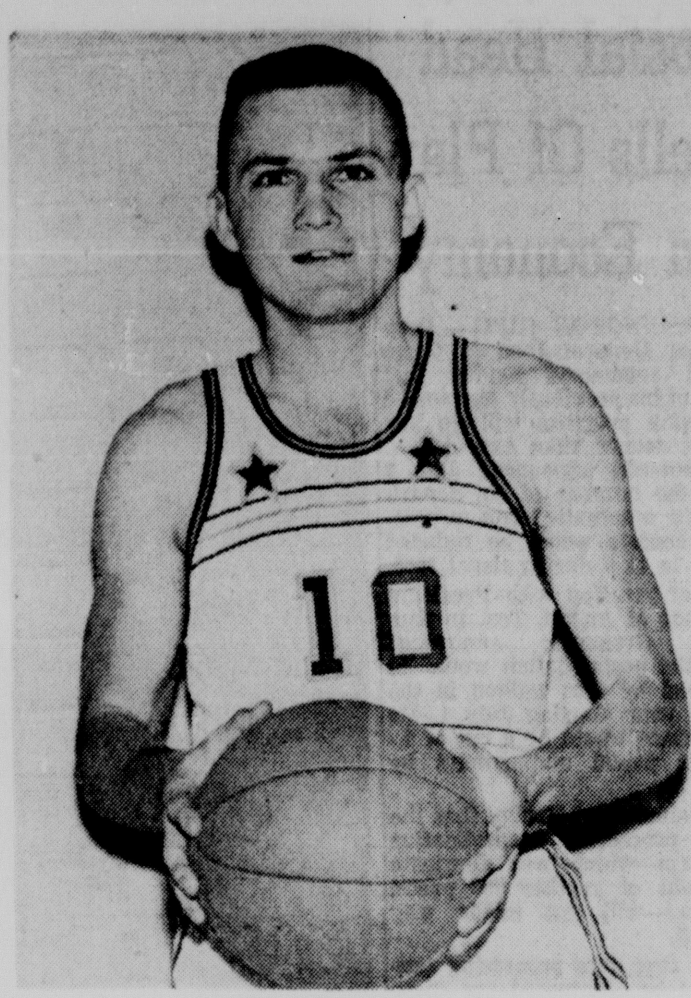

The East may be hampered by an ailing starting quarterback Jack Kemp of the Buffalo Bills, who has been troubled by a severe cold the past few days. He is expected to play, however.

The game will be nationally televised by ABC, starting at 4:30 p.m., EST.

The defense will have its hands full trying to stop an offense built around quarterback Tobin Rote, who led the San Diego Chargers to the league's championship.

The veteran passer has a superb receiver in Art Powell of the Oakland Raiders. And he can expect tremendous running from his San Diego teammates, Keith Lincoln, Alnce Alworth and Paul Lowe, and Oakland's Clem Daniels.

ONE of the mainstays on the Northeast State team this winter has been little Irby Gamble. Gamble, a 5-7 senior guard, scored 18 points against LeTourneau Tech Thursday night in one of his better performances. Gamble will be in action tonight against Northwestern State.

TECH SURVIVES AGAIN Bulldogs' Rally Nips McNeese

LAKE CHARLES (Special) — Louisiana Tech rallied in the final 12 minutes Friday night to wipe out a nine point lead and shade McNeese State 54-52 in a Gulf States Conference basketball thriller.

The victory leaves Tech undefeated in conference play after four starts and in a tie with Southwestern for the loop lead.

McNeese now has a 1-4 GSC record. Overall Tech is 7-4 and McNeese 7-11.

The Cowboys led by a comfortable margin most of the night and had built a 40-31 advantage with 12:30 minutes left to play.

Then Tech came alive, chalking up 10 straight points to go ahead for the first time 41-40 at the 10 minute mark. The lead changed hands three times in the next five minutes before the Bulldogs moved in front to stay 47-46 on a fielder by Ray Penny from just inside the foul circle.

Tech quickly pulled away to a six-point edge before McNeese narrowed the gap in the final seconds.

The Pokes led 30-23 at the half.

Penny and Joe Abendroth led Tech scorers with 17 and 14 points respectively. Husky Jerry Hood contributed greatly to the Tech victory by hauling down 10 rebounds in the hard fought game.

McNeese's Clyde Briley led all scorers with 28 points.

Tom Wunder was McNeese's only other double figure scorer with 11 markers.

A Man With A Big Job

Dixie B. White, a man who has burned his bridges behind him and gives no indication of regretting it, is about to embark on what may prove to be the most harried and at the same time momentous weeks of his life.

In the altogether too short days that lie ahead this new head coach and athletic director at Northeast State college, must map out the trail he will follow in the jungle called the Gulf States Conference the coming fall.

He must make his plans carefully since the structure of the GSC demands one "sink or swim" as much as does football anywhere else. But he must make them quickly since the warmth of spring is only thinly veiled by today's frost.

In this period he must first select his staff. It is all important and White knows it. "I want the people," he said, "who will mold into the best possible working situation. No head coach is any stronger than his staff."

At the same time he must take a quick hard look at the personnel already on board and at those recruited this winter. And if he has any hopes of sur-ing major college transfers, particularly those from his old back yard at Louisiana State, it must be done now.

While all this is going on, White must also organize spring football practice, deciding what must be done to install his brand of football quickly but thoroughly.

Since he anticipates starting drills by Feb. 10, he has no time to waste. It is a lot to accomplish in so short a time and particularly in a conference where the best way to swim is to start out with perfection and build from there.

White, however, appears eager to get on with it. The 46-year-old coach, who seemed perfectly at ease during his press conference Thursday, was soft-spoken, friendly. He created the impression he was easy-going. But at the same time he couldn't have been more serious when he said, "I think Northeast presents a big opportunity."

Defense First

Turning to his football philosophy, White said he was not ultra conservative and that he believed in a mixture of running and passing.

"I think the pass is a wonderful weapon," he said, "but you have to have someone who can throw the ball to pass."

"I hope we will have people who can throw well enough to open up the defense and help our running game."

White, who was an assistant at both Louisiana State and Arkansas, said he would use the same slot or wing-back formation he worked with in the past and would employ some use of split ends or flankers.

The implication is that it will feature a strong running attack with the emphasis on execution.

"I don't think we can outcoach anybody in this league," White said. "We hope we will be able to outwork some of them."

"Of course the mark of a good team is its defensive ability. I don't think you will find a team which wins consistently without a good defense. In my book it's No. 1. Football is a game of errors, not perfection and you must be good on defense to capitalize on this."

While White and his staff are trying to outwork the rest of the league, he has no intention of being a slave driver.

"Football is a game for the boys," he said, "and they should enjoy it. We'll have a lot of work to do, but I don't want it to become drudgery. We hope to have lots of fun doing it."

On scrimmages, his thinking is equally modern. "We hope to cut contact work to a minimum during the season," he said. "In spring

Another Upset

Northeast State is a place where they stack upsets on top of upsets. The one on top of the pile this week is the junior varsity's smashing 94-78 upset over Louisiana Tech's freshman basketball team.

Maybe it's wrong to call a JV win over anybody's freshmen an upset. But the Tech frosh had lost only one game coming into the contest and this was to the Mississippi State freshmen in Starkville, 79-69.

When the playing date was arranged State Coach "Babe" McCarthy said, "Sure, we'll be happy to play, but my freshman are good. They can beat my varsity."

So the JV wins an ever growing list of upsets which includes a young Northeast cross country team winning the GSC title, the track performance in the Sugar Bowl and of course the varsity basketball team's totally unexpected championship in the first annual Gulf States Classic (Northeast beat the two teams which are currently leading in the conference race).

Deadlocked in the pro-am lead at 123 were Lema and Col. John Durkin of San Francisco, and Mike Fetchick with amateur Charley Seaver of Fresno, Calif. The Lema team had a best ball 60 Friday to pull into the deadlock with the first round leaders, who had 65 their second time out.

Art Wall, winner at San Diego last Sunday, shot a 69 for a 145 total.

Balding opened his five-under-par effort with a birdie by sinking a 30-foot putt on the 16th hole. He dropped putts of 12 and 15 feet on the third and fifth but bogeyed the seventh when he hit into a sand trap bunker.

He sank a 22-foot birdie putt at the eighth to make the nine-hole turn in a three-under-par 32. He birdied the 13th and 14th, the latter with a 30-foot putt, then three-putted the 15th. On the par five 18th, he hit the green in two shots and took two putts.

Three strokes back in second place was Australia's Bruce Devlin, 26-year-old French Open champion who shot a 67 second round to go with Thursday's 69.

Five strokes off the Canadian PGA champion's pace at 138 were Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., Jay Hebert of Lafayette, La., and Tommy Aaron of Gainesville, Ga., the lowest shooters among Uncle Sam's huge contingent.

Arnold Palmer, with 73 Friday, and Jack Nicklaus with another 70, were a dozen strokes off Balding's blistering pace.

The Canadian fired a 66 at Cypress point and followed with his 67 at Monterey Peninsula Country Club, both par 72 layouts.

Today will be the 39-year-old Balding's toughest test—Pebble Beach with national television in attendance and blustery weather forecast. All the leaders will be at the long ocean-side course.

Defending champion Billy Casper was back in contention for the $6,500 first money with a sharp 68 and 139 total. New Zealand's Bob Charles, the left-hander who won last year's British Open, also was at 139 with a 71 second round. So was Al Bessellink, who shot a 70.

England's Geoffrey Hunt, one stroke off the first round pace, carded a 74 at Pebble Beach for a 141 total.

Balding, obviously pleased, nevertheless felt his score could have been better.

"I felt I had a lot of good chances," he said. "I left some just sitting on the lip of the cup. But I had some good putts that went in, too. I was driving the ball as good as I can."

Bob Nichols, the only Yank among the top four first round finishers, sagged to a 73 second round and 140 total. Ken Venturi, who won the Crosby in 1960, posted an 80 Friday for a 156 total. He failed to turn in a scorecard at first, but then changed his mind. In the pro-amateur, he and Roame Puett of Austin, Tex. have a best ball 126, high up on the list.

Three strokes back in second place was Australia's Bruce Devlin, 26-year-old French Open champion who shot a 67 second round to go with Thursday's 69.

Five strokes off the Canadian PGA champion's pace at 138 were Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., Jay Hebert of Lafayette, La., and Tommy Aaron of Gainesville, Ga., the lowest shooters among Uncle Sam's huge contingent.

Arnold Palmer, with 73 Friday, and Jack Nicklaus with another 70, were a dozen strokes off Balding's blistering pace.

The Canadian fired a 66 at Cypress point and followed with his 67 at Monterey Peninsula Country Club, both par 72 layouts.

Today will be the 39-year-old Balding's toughest test—Pebble Beach with national television in attendance and blustery weather forecast. All the leaders will be at the long ocean-side course.

Defending champion Billy Casper was back in contention for the $6,500 first money with a sharp 68 and 139 total. New Zealand's Bob Charles, the left-hander who won last year's British Open, also was at 139 with a 71 second round. So was Al Bessellink, who shot a 70.

England's Geoffrey Hunt, one stroke off the first round pace, carded a 74 at Pebble Beach for a 141 total.

Balding, obviously pleased, nevertheless felt his score could have been better.

"I felt I had a lot of good chances," he said. "I left some just sitting on the lip of the cup. But I had some good putts that went in, too. I was driving the ball as good as I can."

Bob Nichols, the only Yank among the top four first round finishers, sagged to a 73 second round and 140 total. Ken Venturi, who won the Crosby in 1960, posted an 80 Friday for a 156 total. He failed to turn in a scorecard at first, but then changed his mind. In the pro-amateur, he and Roame Puett of Austin, Tex. have a best ball 126, high up on the list.

Deadlocked in the pro-am lead at 123 were Lema and Col. John Durkin of San Francisco, and Mike Fetchick with amateur Charley Seaver of Fresno, Calif. The Lema team had a best ball 60 Friday to pull into the deadlock with the first round leaders, who had 65 their second time out.

Art Wall, winner at San Diego last Sunday, shot a 69 for a 145 total.

Balding opened his five-under-par effort with a birdie by sinking a 30-foot putt on the 16th hole. He dropped putts of 12 and 15 feet on the third and fifth but bogeyed the seventh when he hit into a sand trap bunker.

He sank a 22-foot birdie putt at the eighth to make the nine-hole turn in a three-under-par 32. He birdied the 13th and 14th, the latter with a 30-foot putt, then three-putted the 15th. On the par five 18th, he hit the green in two shots and took two putts.

Three strokes back in second place was Australia's Bruce Devlin, 26-year-old French Open champion who shot a 67 second round to go with Thursday's 69.

The U.S. delegation, headed by Dean William Barnes of Har- vard, was far from the scene and had no contact with the demon- strators.

Politico-Spaceman Faces Questions Of Retaining Glamour In Campaign

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Can a primary-opposing incumbent astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. retain his spaceman's glamour in Cleveland—came in his usual the crowded rough and tumble of Ohio politics?

There was the flashing smile, the crew haircut, the twinkling blue eyes set in a deeply tanned face, a concise delivery as he spoke to about 400 newsmen, television crewmen and by-standers in the big ballroom of the Neil House Hotel.

Beide him as he spoke—as in whether to remain a spaceman, or take the uncertain course of running for public office. He chose the latter, he indicated, because he believed he would be too old to be an active participant by the time the next big space effort was made.

His announcement that he'd seek the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator in Ohio's May cord also were there. Glenn's decision left a lot of questions unanswered—for a time, at least.

Will he keep his even, good-humored temper when the political going gets rough? He's always been fast on his feet at news conferences on space subjects; clear, concise, ever ready to mix humor with seriousness.

How will he react to the criticism sure to come when he takes the campaign trail? It appears certain that he'll find the going tougher on his patience than his glide through space in his three-orbit journey around the earth nearly two years ago.

But none who know him would deny that his personality, wit, and a common touch apparent in his dealings with the young and old, are assets in a political campaign.

Apparently he has tacit, if not the formal, approval of some Democratic leaders. But his task won't be an easy one despite a popularity and fame without precedent in Ohio politics.

On the other side of the ledger, he has no experience in politics, no formal organization as yet to sweep him along—and some mighty good vote-getters to oppose him along the way.

Answers most wanted from Glenn? Something of his own political philosophy. That's not likely to come until he's free of his Marine Corps ties officially. He said he couldn't answer now.

Ex-Nazi Tells Of Atrocities

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI)—A sobbing, bull-necked former Gestapo chief guard testified Friday that doctors always checked Auschwitz death camp inmates to see if they could take it before they were beaten with clubs.

"I'm telling the truth," sobbed Franz Hofmann, on trial with 21 other men for helping kill up to 4 million persons at Auschwitz.

He shed the first tears of the month-old trial. The ex-Gestapo guard blubbered and twisted a handkerchief.

Hofmann, already serving a life term for other wartime death camp murders, sniffled when chief Judge Hans Hofmeyer asked how prisoners were beaten.

The 57-year-old defendant, who bossed the maximum security jail alongside Auschwitz's gas chamber, said: "They got 15 to 25 strokes with a club. But first they were checked by a doctor to see if they could take it."

"Well, did it ever happen a doctor decided they couldn't take it?" asked Judge Hofmeyer.

"Yes, sometime, and then they weren't punished," replied Hofmann who then sobbed and sniffled.

His fellow defendants—20 former Gestapo men and an inmate trusty who helped them—seemed embarrassed by their former chief guard's behavior. They looked the other way.

Hofmann said he thwarted a Berlin order to gas 40 Jewish boys. He claimed he built a sandbox and a playground for camp children. The ex-Gestapo man said he slipped the prisoners extra rations and even built walkways over their muddy yards.

Hofmann is accused of helping herd thousands to gas chamber deaths and of more individual killings—in one instance forcing 12 naked Russians to stand in snow until they froze.

Hofmann admitted taking part in the "selection" of newly-arrived prisoners—picking them for life at slave labor or death in the gas chambers.

"My duty was to guard the prisoners when the train arrived and we had to separate the prisoners—I mean the Jews—into men, women and children . . . but sometimes when we needed nobody to work, the whole shipment would go to the gas chambers."

DEAR ABBY

Do Not Blame Schools For Problem With Son

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: As the mother of a high school freshman I feel our schools are to blame for this demanding attitude displayed by our youth. The accent is on materialism. In the few months my son has attended high school there has been a steady stream of requests for money. He needs track shoes, a student body card, $4 for a year book, drafting instruments, a white sweater for his athletic block letter. My budget exhausted. I told him he would have to wait a while on the sweater. He was so angry he threw his hair brush at me, smeared my bedroom rug with toothpaste and threw a heavy magnet at the kitchen door with all his might. We pay high taxes, Abby, and our schools should be supported by those taxes. If students don't come up with all the extras offered, they feel out of it. I also wish to add that I just received notification from the Parents Association that a European tour is being offered next summer for those students who can afford it. I am 27 years old and have never been to Europe, but here's a great opportunity for me to pay $35 a month from here to eternity so that my son may go — at age 15. I'd like your opinion on this materialism instilled in our children.

Redwood City, Calif. Mother

DEAR MOTHER: You are twisting the issue. True, it and Mrs. Dawson. Members present were Mrs. R. E. Huff, Mrs. Patrick McHenry, Mrs. Ralph Nichols, Mrs. W. F. Carson, Mrs. H. J. Strain, Mrs. Robert Tate and Mrs. C. T. Baird.

The next meeting will be held on February 10 at the home of Mrs. Tate, 1310 College Avenue.

costs much more to go to school today than it did 25 years ago. But everything costs more. And people are earning more, too. Not every boy who wants a school sweater asks his mother for it. I once knew a young man who worked all summer at a Super Market and saved his money. You didn't say what happened after your son threw the hair brush, the magnet and decorated your rug with toothpaste. If all you did was to sit down and write me a letter blaming the schools, you can expect more such temper. Only worse. Face it Mother. Your son is a child, impatient, sorehead. Work on straightening him out first. And then we'll talk about what's wrong with the school system.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Pretest Stove Dials Before Applying Paint

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

You know how many times we wash our kitchen ranges and stoves.

I found that I could no longer read the settings on the dials for each burner on our stove. You know: on, off, high, low, etc. . .

It made it confusing for someone who did not know the range as well as I did!

Our remedy for this is very simple.

Take some bright, red nail polish and paint all over these indented markings; let dry and then take nail polish remover and put some on a bit of cotton and lightly go over the smudge of red fingernail polish!

All of the excess polish will come off, except where you want some, jam in others. Peanut butter it to stay on . . . right in the little grooves. Presto! You can read them clearly and it looks very neat.

Try it!

Devoted

Ladies, I suggest that before you try this method you SPOT TEST the dials which you are going to coat with nail polish and uncoat with nail polish remover! Here's why:

I do not know what your dials are made of . . .

I have tested five different top brands and it works on all of them so far. Others have written that you can use paint on the dials. I tried that, too, and it works beautifully. However, I suspect that some dials are made of a plastic which remover might just dissolve, so be sure to SPOT TEST IT FIRST.

Wouldn't it be awful if you ended up with no dials?

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I wash my plastic bags and bowl covers by putting them in with my white clothes when I do the laundry. The hot water and bleach in the washer keeps them sweet and clean.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise: After you have left your house have you ever wondered if you put out the flame under the pot on the stove?

Here is a good way to remember.

When you go to turn out the flame, pick up the pot and put it on another burner! You may not remember putting the flame out but you will remember picking up the pot!

Ann Hopkins

Dear Heloise:

For a change of pace in TV snacks, make up a batch of Panwiches.

These are really dollar-sized panwiches. Let them cool and then take your knife and gently erase each one in the center so that they may be folded over.

Fill each one with a different

They are super scrumptious. I always make a big batch of these dollar-sized panwiches and watch them disappear before our very eyes.

These are excellent when filled with small patties of hamburger, too, and quite a change from the usual doughy bun.

Why Grow Old

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

If you want to kill more than one figure fault with one exercise, I have a few for you to do.

1. Lie on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor, slightly away from your sides. Raise both legs to a right angle position to your body. Separate your legs. Bring them together and lower them to the floor. Knees are stiff throughout this exercise. Continue.

2. Lie on your left side. Swing your right leg backward as you reach forward with your right arm. Now swing your right leg forward as you swing your right arm backward. Continue with a smooth swing in each direction. Your arm and leg move in opposite directions. After a while turn on to your right side and swing your left arm and leg.

3. Lie on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting at your sides. Bend both knees up, and raise your head, trying to touch your nose to your knees. Return legs and head to the floor.

Try this carefully, because if you have long legs you might bump your nose. This is a fine abdominal exercise and is stimulating to the waistline. It is also easy to do, and relaxing.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Pretest Stove Dials Before Applying Paint

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: You know how many times we wash our kitchen ranges and stoves. I found that I could no longer read the settings on the dials for each burner on our stove. You know: on, off, high, low, etc. . . . It made it confusing for someone who did not know the range as well as I did! Our remedy for this is very simple. Take some bright, red nail polish and paint all over these indented markings; let dry and then take nail polish remover and put some on a bit of cotton and lightly go over the smudge of red fingernail polish! All of the excess polish will come off, except where you want it to stay on . . . right in the little grooves. Presto! You can read them clearly and it looks very neat. Try it.

Devoted

Ladies, I suggest that before you try this method you SPOT TEST the gadgets which you are going to coat with nail polish and un-coat with nail polish remover! Here's why: I do not know what your dials are made of . . .

I have tested five different top brands and it works on all of them so far. Others have written that you can use paint on the dials. I tried that, too, and it works beautifully. However, I suspect that some dials are made of a plastic which remover might just dissolve, so be sure to SPOT TEST IT FIRST.

Wouldn't it be awful if you ended up with no dials? Heloise

Dear Heloise: I wash my plastic bags and bowl covers by putting them in with my white clothes when I do the laundry. The hot water and bleach in the washer keeps them sweet and clean.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise: After you have left your house, have you ever wondered if you put out the flame under the pot on the stove?

Here is a good way to remember.

When you go to turn out the flame, pick up the pot and put it on another burner! You may not remember putting the flame out but you will remember picking up the pot!

Ann Hopkins

Dear Heloise: For a change of pace in TV snacks, make up a batch of Panwiches.

These are really dollar-sized pancakes. Let them cool and then take your knife and gently crease each one in the center so that they may be folded over.

Fill each one with a different spread. I usually put jelly in some, jam in others. Peanut butter is wonderful, cheese or ham is excellent, salami, etc. These are to be folded over in half, Taco-style.

They are super scrumptious. I always make a big batch of these dollar-sized panwiches and watch them disappear before our very eyes.

These are excellent when filled with small patties of hamburger, too, and quite a change from the usual doughy bun.

COUNTER IDEA

The increasing number of frozen foods available has made quick meals a simple matter. But haste can make waste, as many housewives have learned after placing a hot pan or pot on a countertop that isn't burnproof. The solution is to have your kitchen countertop surfaced with ceramic tile. Not only is it fireproof, but it also can withstand a slip of even the sharpest knife.

This is a splendid abdominal exercise. It also firms the inner thighline which has a tendency to become flabby, even at an early age.

Ford Jr., Mrs. Louis Schwartz, Mrs. Dan Culpepper, Mrs. L. J. Stanley, Mrs. Stanley Tempalski, Mrs. J. D. Heimbaugh, Mrs. Russell Rainbolt, Mrs. D. L. Shadic, Mrs. Jack Davis, Mrs. D. L. Aldridge, Mrs. J. G. Sibley, Mrs. B. W. Tew, Mrs. T. F. Easterling, Mrs. Jack Haugh, Mrs. W. S. Buckley and Mrs. L. R. Whittington.

The new club will meet again on Tuesday, January 21 in the home of Mrs. Louis Schwartz with Mrs. Culpepper as co-hostess. A name for the club will be selected at that time.

The next regular meeting will be held on Tuesday, February 11 at the home of Mrs. J. G. Sibley.

2. Lie on your left side. Swing your right leg backward as you reach forward with your right arm. Now swing your right leg forward as you swing your right arm backward. Continue with a smooth swing in each direction. Your arm and leg move in opposite directions. After a while turn on to your right side and swing your left arm and leg. If you do this somewhat slowly, reaching in each direction as far as comfortable with your arm and leg, you will feel a wonderful stretch. This is a fine abdominal exercise and is slimming to the waistline. It is also easy to do, and relaxing.

3. Lie on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting at your sides. Bend both knees up, and raise your head, trying to touch your nose to your knees. Return legs and head to the floor.

Try this carefully, because if you have long legs you might bump your nose. This is a fine abdominal exercise and also gives your neck, or chinline, a workout.

GROOMING AIDS

One way to encourage your children to enjoy daily baths is by providing each with personal grooming aids—such as a long-handled back brush and a stiff-bristled nail brush.

Regular use of these cleanliness "tools" will also encourage youngsters to do their sudsup jobs more thoroughly.

DIAMONDS

Suds are a diamond's best friend! To keep your diamonds sparkling, scrub them often with an eyebrow brush and hot soap or detergent suds. Then rinse and wipe dry with tissue paper.

Keep Well How To

BACTERIA IN REFRIGERATED FOOD

A Los Angeles mother, her two children, and a neighbors youngster developed food poisoning 3 to 5 hours after eating cold ham sandwiches. All had nausea, vomiting, cramping, and diarrhea. The reason? Inadequate refrigeration of the meat.

According to the government's Morbidity and Mortality weekly report, three days prior to the meal the mother had refrigerated the ham immediately on bringing it home. The next morning she boiled it for 2 hours and served it to five persons at noon. None became ill.

The meat was left unrefrigerated for two days when it again was served. All who ate it were poisoned. Health authorities examined samples of the meat and found it teeming with staphylococci. No other reports of poisoning were received on foods sold in that particular store.

The staphylococcus is a common inhabitant of the nose, throat, and skin. It is difficult to keep this micro-organism from contaminating food exposed to the air for any length of time. It is particularly fond of products containing milk, cream, rapidly cured ham, potato salad, sausage, chicken and turkey gravy, hollandaise sauce, bread pudding, and chicken salad.

The bacteria themselves are not responsible for the poisoning. They produce a toxin to which man is extremely susceptible. Symptoms occur within 3 to 4 hours if food is kept at 86 degrees F. The toxin is not inactivated by cooking or reheating the food.

This type of poisoning usually is suspected when nausea, retching, cramping, and diarrhea come on 3 hours after eating. The condition seldom is fatal and symptoms subside in 4 to 6 hours.

Botulism, another type of food poisoning caused by toxins, was more common when home canning was popular. The more recent epidemics in the mid-west were traced to smoked contaminated fish. Symptoms of poisoning appear 12 to 36 hours after eating.

The term, ptomaine poisoning, still is used by the laity. It was coined about 90 years ago by a toxicologist who isolated a chemical from food. When this toxin was injected into animals, it caused diarrhea. Years later the experiments were repeated on animals and humans, except that the material was given by mouth. Nothing happened. End of ptomaine.

DURING PAST 10 YEARS

Enrollments Build In Orleans Schools

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Records showed Friday the number of white students in New Orleans public schools increased by about 2,000 during the past 10 years while the number of Negro students in the schools went up by about 30,000.

Orleans Parish is the largest in Louisiana in population and in the number of public school students.

Records of the Orleans Parish School Board show enrollment in white public schools rose from 36,361 during the 1953-54 school year to 38,645 during the current school year.

At the same time, Negro public school enrollment climbed from 32,475 to the current 62,538.

Private, non-Catholic schools in New Orleans enrolled 10,777 at the start of the 1963-64 school year—or 12.8 per cent of the city's white grade school total.

These private schools showed a 50 per cent increase in the city's white grade school total.

These private schools showed a 50 per cent increase in enrollment from the 5,946 registered for the 1961-62 school year—before the state began paying grant-in-aid funds to private school students.

The School Board reported there are 260 schools in New Orleans, including 128 public schools, 73 Catholic schools and 59 private schools. Of the private schools, 43 are white and 16 are Negro.

Since the U. S. Supreme Court's 1954 school desegregation decision, the number of white students in New Orleans public schools dropped to about 46 per cent of the total in the city from about 51 per cent before the court's decision.

White Catholic school enrollment remained stable during the 10-year period — at about 34,000 — despite integration at 28 of the city's 56 Catholic schools. There are 9,241 Negroes in the city's Catholic schools.

The School Board, in its publication "Facts and Figures," reported that desegregation had occurred at 25 formerly all-white elementary public schools and at one formerly all-Negro grade school.

There were 383 Negroes integrated into white public elementary schools this year, with 199 in first grade, 138 in second grade, 19 in third grade and 27 in fourth grade.

There were also 13 Negroes in Franklin High School for advanced students and one white student in a Negro school.

In all, there are 157,577 school children in New Orleans this year—84,023 whites and 73,554 Negroes.

Filhiol Marker Dedication Set In West Monroe

A historical marker in memory of Monroe's founder, Don Juan Filhiol, will be dedicated at 2 p.m. Sunday in ceremonies at 209 Filhiol St., West Monroe.

Erection of the marker is sponsored by Chief Tusquahoma Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Slated to speak at the ceremonies is David F. Russell, local historian. He will present the history of Don Juan Filhiol.

Following Russell's speech will be the dedication statement by Mrs. Rudolph J. Holzer Jr., state regent of the DAR, and the unveiling of the marker by John Hardy Filhiol, seventh generation descendant of Don Juan Filhiol.

The program will open with a band concert by the West Monroe High School band, directed by J. Henry Camp. After the concert the colors will be presented and an invocation will be given by the Rev. Earl B. Emmerich, pastor of the First Methodist Church of West Monroe.

Presentation of the marker will be made by Mrs. Jennette Mahaffey, historical marker chairman, of the local DAR chapter.

Others on the program include West Monroe Mayor J. Allan Norris, welcome address and acceptance speech; Mrs. Herman M. McGuire, local chapter regent, welcome address; Mrs. Robert E. Harrell, pledge of allegiance; Mrs. J. O. Miller, mistress of ceremonies; the Rev. Dr. Hugh E. Bradshaw, pastor of the Memorial Presbyterian Church of West Monroe, the benediction.

Steven White will give the bugle call for assembly, and Herman McGuire II, member of Lt. Joseph Bowman Society, Children of the American Revolution, will advance the colors. Programs will be distributed by members of Lt. Joseph Bowman Society.

Filhiol, a soldier in the army of Bernardo de Galvez, was the commandant of Fort Miro in Monroe. His plantation was located in West Monroe near the marker site where he was buried. The site was purchased by the City of West Monroe for the DAR to place the marker.

The inscription on the marker states:

To perpetuate the memory of Don Juan Filhiol, Sept. 21, 1740-Sept. 28, 1821. A soldier of the revolution in the army of Bernardo de Galvez and the first commandant of Fort Miro, Ouachita Parish. Erected by Chief Tusquahoma Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, 1964.

The program is open to the public and interested persons are invited to attend.

2 Performances Of Folklorico Ballet Slated

RUSTON (Special)—Two performances of the Ballet Folklorico of Mexico on Tuesday, Jan. 21, are the next attractions of the Louisiana Tech Concert Assn.

A program for the Tech students is scheduled for 3:05 p.m., and one for the public membership of the LTCA will be given at 8 p.m., both in Howard Auditorium.

The group was founded in 1952 by its choreographer and director, Amalia Hernandez, when she left her post as professor of modern dance at the Instituto Nacional de Bellas Artes to compose ballets on folklore themes.

She began with eight pupils and in two years had expanded the group to 20. Her idea was to create a national dance company which would be "an articulation in the dance of the history, customs, legends and personality of Mexico."

Since 1959, the Ballet Folklorico has given more than 500 performances. In addition to tours, it performs on a regular twice weekly basis in Mexico City. Its triumph in Paris at the Theater Sarah Bernhardt in 1961 received first prize among dance companies at the festival there.

Man Who Shot Self In View Of Police Improved

RUSTON (Special) — Hospital officials Friday reported that Woodrow Killen, 48, of Magnolia, Ark., appeared to be on the road to recovery after he shot himself at the Ruston Police Station Thursday.

Killen walked into the station about 5:45 p.m. Thursday, removed his overcoat and shot himself in the chest with an Italian-made pistol. He was rushed to the hospital and never lost consciousness.

Killen had on his person three envelopes—one addressed to his wife, one to his son—another to the police, whom he thanked for their trouble.

The one addressed to the police also contained information that Killen had burial insurance with a Jonesboro firm.

Louisiana Tech To Host Meeting Of Historians

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech will be host to a meeting of the North Louisiana Historical Assn. in the Student Center here at 3 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 26.

The program will open with a welcome by Dr. F. Jay Taylor, Tech president. Miss Marjorie Leigh of the Tech library staff will present a paper concerning early settlers of Ruston and Lincoln Parish. Philip Cook, acting instructor of history at Tech, will discuss the history of dairying in Bienville Parish.

Persons interested in early settlers of the area or in the dairy industry are invited.

Refreshments and a social period will follow the discussions. Prior to the program the board of directors of the organization will hold a business meeting at 2:30 p.m.

Prof. John D. Winters of the Tech social science faculty is chairman of the local arrangements committee. Other members of the committee are Dr. E. H. Moseley and Dr. W. Y. Thompson of the social science staff at Tech.

Pope Approves Joint Printing Of Holy Bible

FRIBOURG, Switzerland (AP)—Pope Paul VI has authorized Roman Catholic churchmen to collaborate with Protestants in publishing a joint edition of the Bible for the first time since the Reformation, it was authoritatively reported Friday.

The Roman Catholic news service Kipa said the unprecedented Catholic-Protestant version of the New Testament will be published in Swahili and other East African countries.

Separate Protestant and Roman Catholic versions of the Bible in Swahili have circulated in East Africa for decades, causing some confusion among African Christian converts.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. 1-18

Negroes Among Jury Called For Beckwith Trial

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A number of Negroes were among 200 prospective jurors drawn Friday by Circuit Judge Leon Hendrick for the trial of Byron De La Beckwith, accused slayer of Negro integration leader Medgar Evers.

Court officials said that although some of the 200 were known to be Negroes, the exact number could not be determined since names on the jury rolls are not identified by race.

Selection of a 12-man jury is expected to take most of the first week of the trial, which will begin Jan. 27.

It is doubtful that any of the Negroes on the special venire will be selected for the trial jury.

Court sources in Jackson said they know of no instance in which a Negro has ever served on a Mississippi jury where the race question was involved.

Beckwith has been held without bond since his arrest last June 23 by FBI agents at his home in Greenwood, Miss.

Police said a fingerprint lifted from the scope of a rifle found near the Evers home shortly after the killing was traced to Beckwith through Marine Corps records.

Evers, Mississippi field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was shot down from behind early on the morning of June 12 as he returned to his Jackson home from a meeting with other integration leaders.

Son Of Jackson Publisher Killed; Rites Set Today

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Funeral services will be held here at 2 p.m. today for Lt. Thomas Martin Hederman III, who was killed Thursday night in an automobile accident near Trenton, N.J.

Hederman, 24, was the son of T. M. Hederman Jr., editor of the Jackson Clarion Ledger, and Mrs. Hederman.

He was killed when his home-bound car skidded on an icy bridge and crashed into an abutment after he had completed his days' tour of duty at McGuire Air Force Base.

The victim was security officer and officer in charge of the combat defense section in the 395th Air Refueling Squadron, Strategic Air Command.

A native of Jackson, Hederman was a graduate of the University of Mississippi where he completed Reserve Officers' Training Corps requirements for a 2nd lieutenant commission.

He was promoted to the rank of first lieutenant in May of 1963.

APOSTOLIC LETTER

Pope Asks Prayers For Christian Unity

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI urged all Roman Catholics on Friday to pray for Christian unity and to give thanks for his successful Holy Land pilgrimage.

In an apostolic letter of exhortation to his bishops, the 66-year-old Roman Catholic ruler said he considered his Jerusalem meeting with Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras of Constantinople a first step toward a united Christianity. The patriarch is spiritual leader of the Orthodox Church.

"Nothing will erase from our heart the memory of what we have seen and heard around us during those unforgettable days," the Pope told the bishops.

He said he wanted the entire Roman Catholic Church to be associated in "our thanks to God for the happy outcome of the pilgrimage." He asked that "in every parish church of your dioceses there be public services of thanks and good wishes."

"In a special way, moreover, we want to recommend the octave of prayer for the unity of Christians," Pope Paul added.

An octave, or eight-day prayer period, for Christian unity starts Saturday in Roman Catholic, Protestant, Orthodox and Anglican churches throughout the world.

Pope Paul authorized all Catholic priests to impart his apostolic benediction to those faithful participating in the Christian unity and pilgrimage thanksgiving services.

Most Christians participating in the octave will follow a prayer program, under the title "Unity Week," sponsored by the World Council of Churches and the Christian Unity Association of Lyons, France. The council is an organization of Protestant, Orthodox and Anglican churches. The French association is Roman Catholic.

APOSTOLIC LETTER

Pope Asks Prayers
For Christian Unity

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI urged all Roman Catholics on Friday to pray for Christian unity and to give thanks for his successful Holy Land pilgrimage.

In an apostolic letter of exhortation to his bishops, the 66-year-old Roman Catholic ruler said he considered his Jerusalem meeting with Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras of Constantinople a first step toward a united Christianity. The patriarch is spiritual leader of the Orthodox Church.

"Nothing will erase from our heart the memory of what we have seen and heard around us during those unforgettable days," the Pope told the bishops.

He said he wanted the entire Roman Catholic Church to be associated in "our thanks to God for the happy outcome of the pilgrimage." He asked that "in every parish church of your dioceses there be public services of thanks and good wishes."

"In a special way, moreover, we want to recommend the octave of prayer for the unity of Christians," Pope Paul added.

An octave, or eight-day prayer period, for Christian unity starts Saturday in Roman Catholic, Protestant, Orthodox and Anglican churches throughout the world.

Pope Paul authorized all Catholic priests to impart his apostolic benediction to those faithful participating in the Christian unity and pilgrimage thanksgiving services.

Most Christians participating in the octave will follow a prayer program, under the title "Unity Week," sponsored by the World Council of Churches and the Christian Unity Association of Lyons, France. The council is an organization of Protestant, Orthodox and Anglican churches. The French association is Roman Catholic.
